The Inside Story

*Opening her doors, George Washington
High School reveals an insight of truth about the world, about the school, and about ourselves.*

CONTINENTAL LAND...Washington High School shimmers in the new fallen snow, assuming a stately appearance.

FATHER OF A NATION! This stone mural of Washington can be viewed in the main entrance, reminding us of an honest man's virtues.

INSIDE WASHINGTON . . .

Continental students show pride in their school.

George Washington High School was constructed in 1928. In the last thirty years additions have been built, and there are now facilities for 2,300 pupils. A new shorthand lab with earphones and tape recorder for dictation was added this year. The bookstore was also moved to a larger and more adequate room. The evening school office replaced the bookstore because this growing department was in need of more room.

In an effort to better meet the growing needs of the growing Westside community, Washington High School will continue to expand and add the necessary facilities.

WISDOM... The owl, symbol of wisdom and knowledge, welcomes Continentals to Washington as they enter the building each morning.

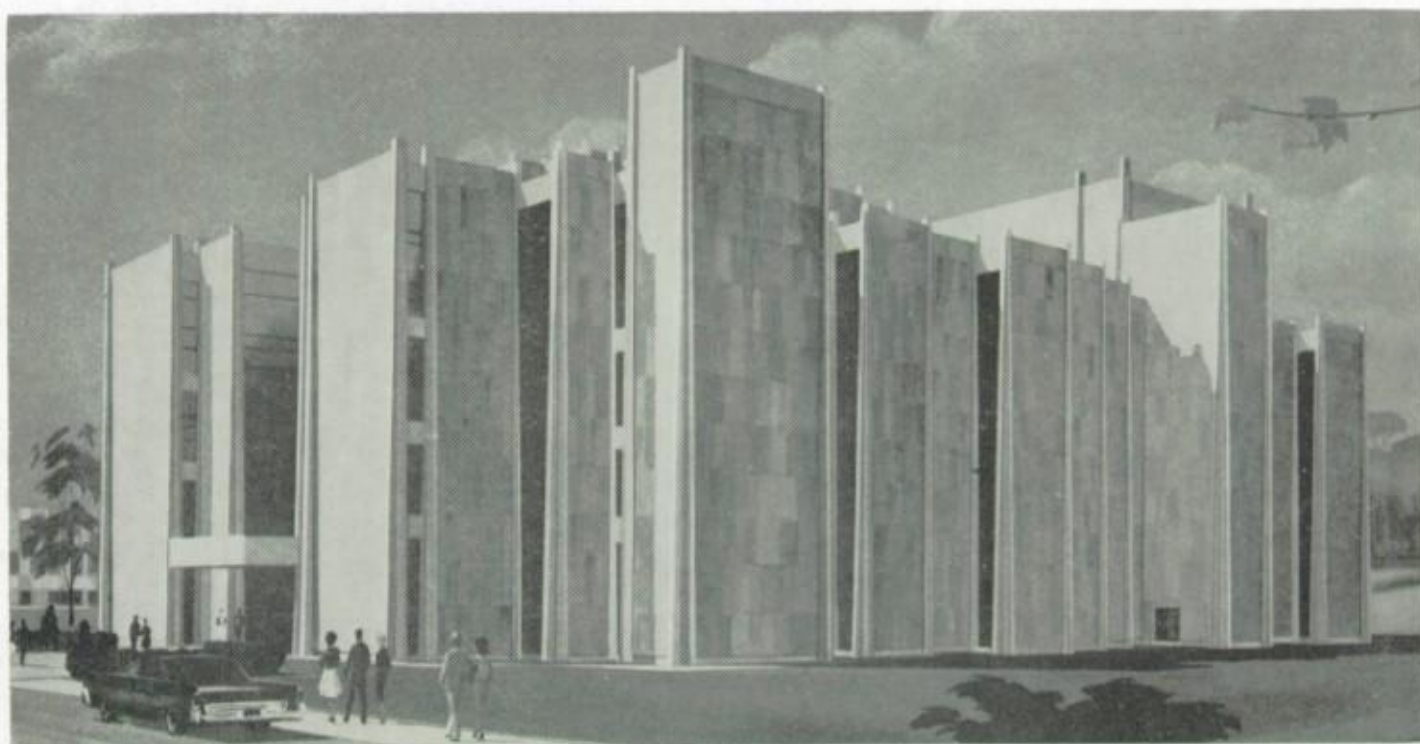

BIG BUSINESS BOOM! Progress is a continuous product at Washington. The addition of a new shorthand laboratory expedites the progress of the business education department.

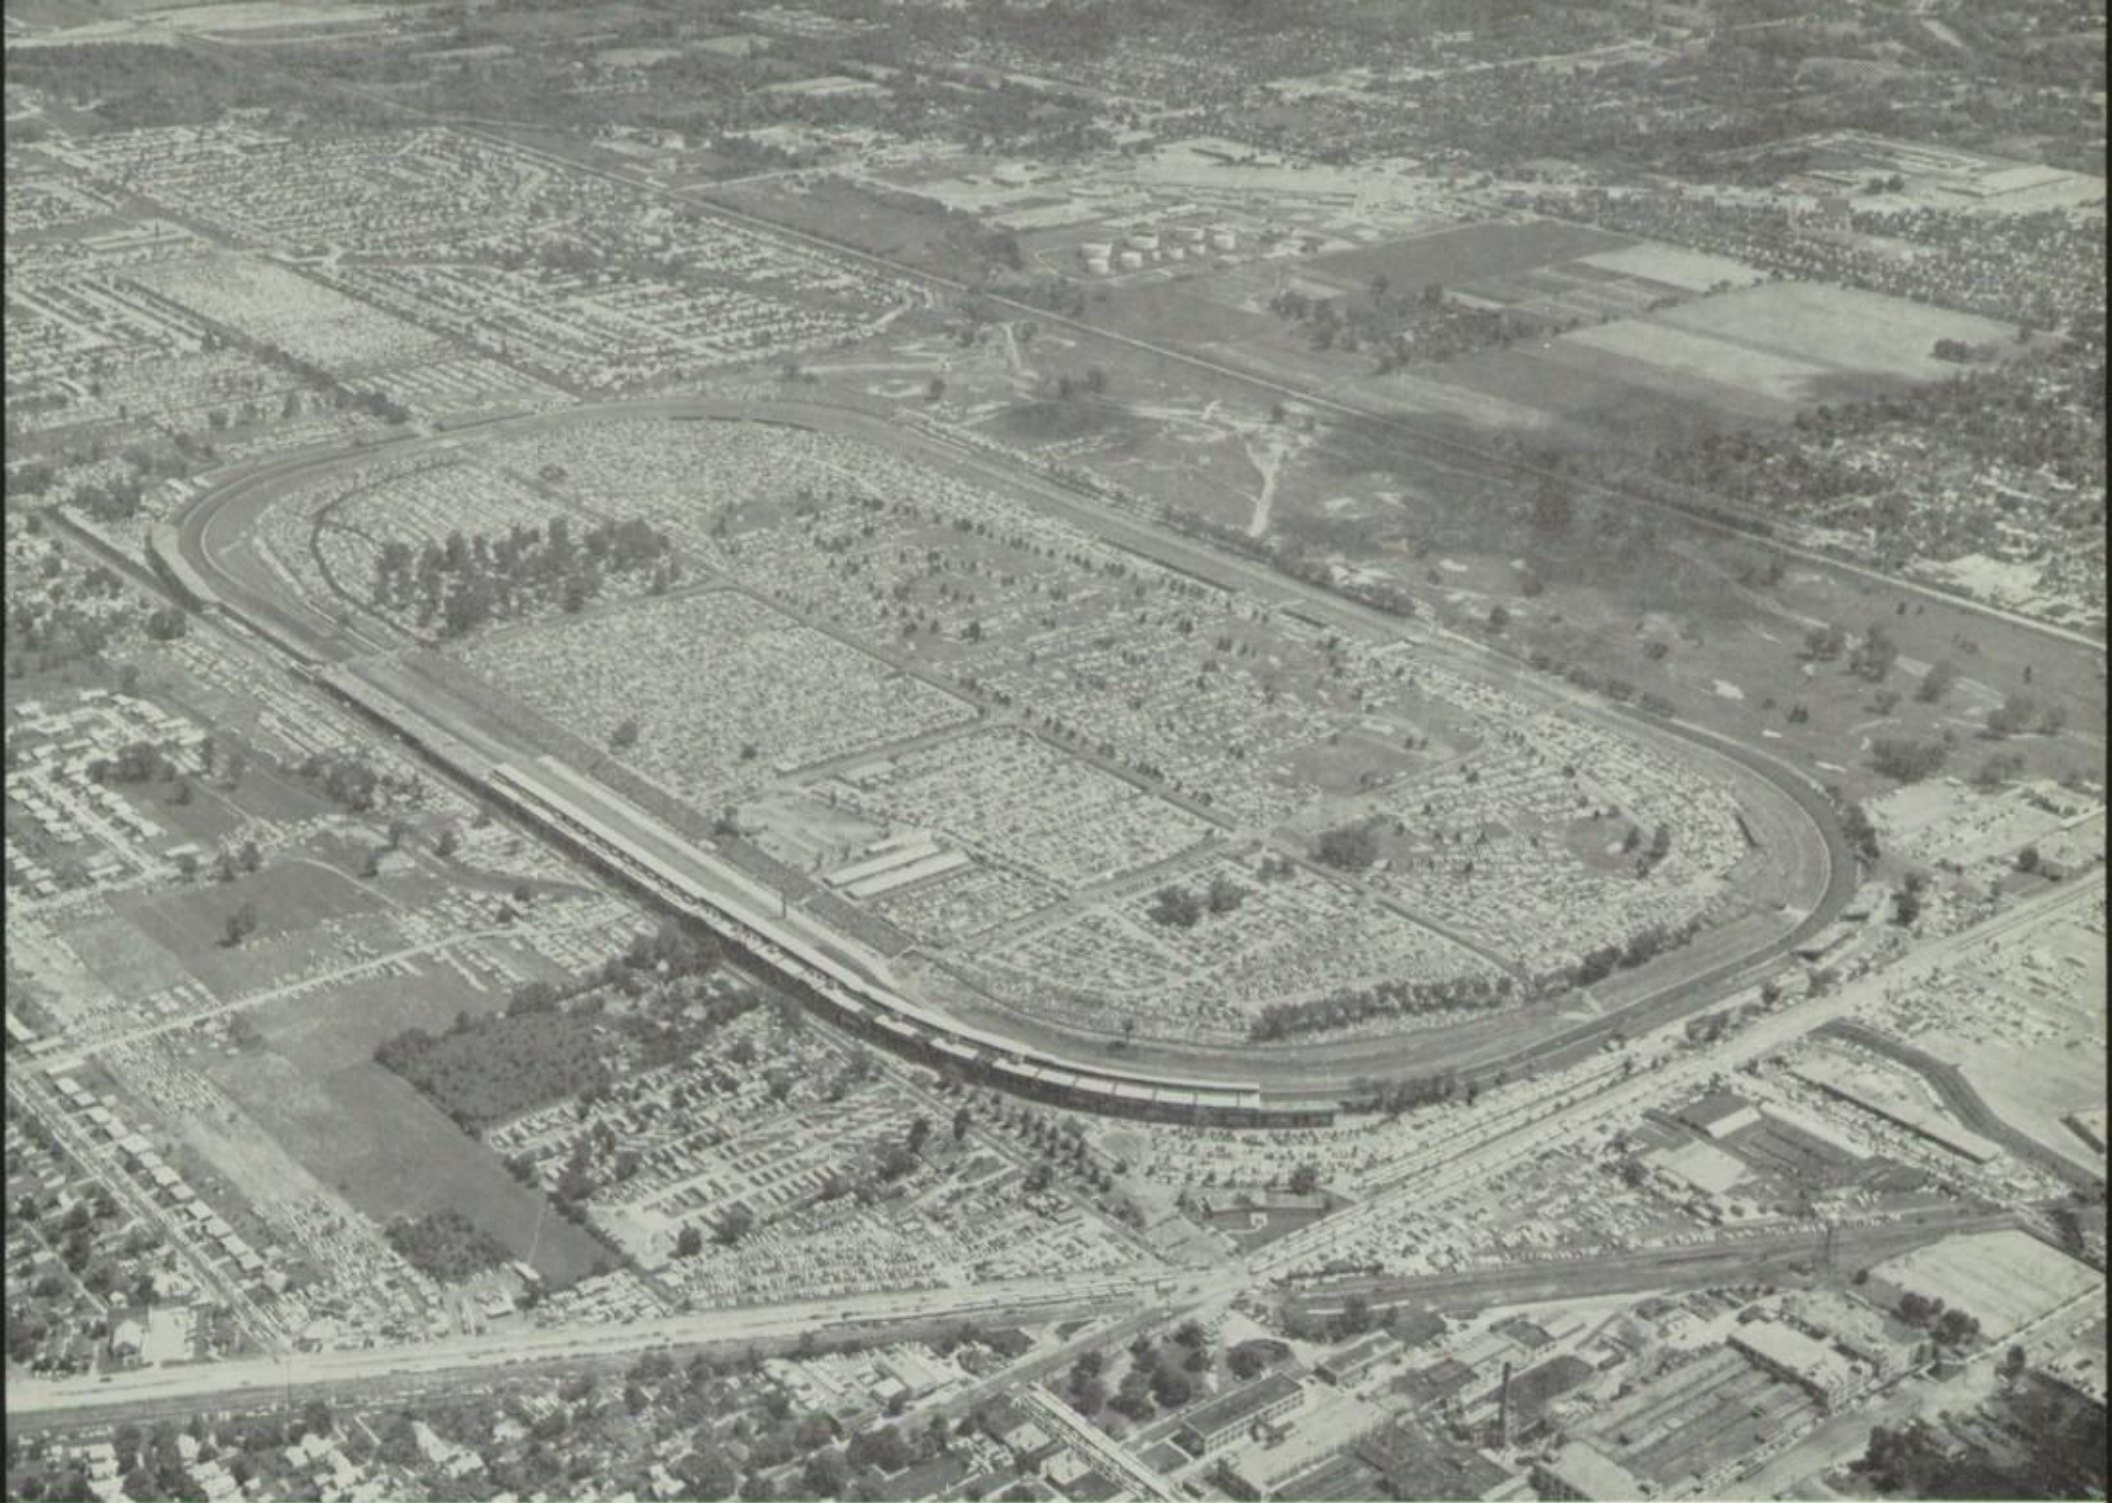

INSIDE WASHINGTON . . .

Continentalists have great pride in their "wonderful town"

Indianapolis, the second largest state capital in the country, is a growing metropolis of 530,000 citizens. The twenty-second largest city in the United States, Indianapolis is a diversified city of industry, government, agriculture, business, recreation, and culture. This wide variety of urban interests provides an excellent climate for a comprehensive educational program. The widely known educational system of Indianapolis is perhaps its greatest achievement.

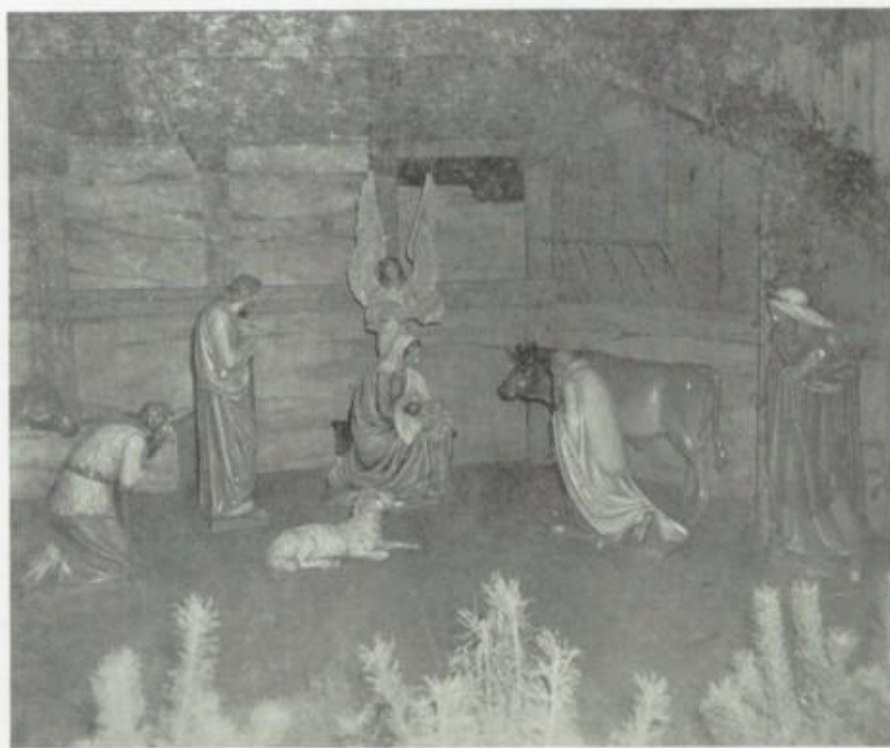

CULTURE AT ITS FINEST...Drama and comedy, opera and symphonies, all share the stage at Butler University's Clowes Memorial Hall.

FABULOUS 500! Indianapolis gains world-wide attention as race drivers continue to make record breaking history at the famous Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

THAT GOLDEN TOUCH! The golden dome of our state capitol building rises in the center of our great city.

O HOLY NIGHT... Each year at Christmas the Nativity Scene is one of the many decorative settings on Monument Circle.

INSIDE WASHINGTON . . .

Traditions highlight the school year.

The traditions at George Washington High School begin early in the year with junior and senior elections. The yearbook campaign is highlighted by the crowning of a king and queen at the Johnnie and Connie Continental Dance. Special holiday programs are presented throughout the year, and the junior and senior proms are events that everyone awaits. Besides the annual Continental Capers, another important day arrives as the spring semester comes to a close. The Awards Day program, garnished with the May Queen and court, is presented to honor students who have made outstanding academic achievements.

CHARGE! Team and fans burst with enthusiasm at annual Homecoming game.

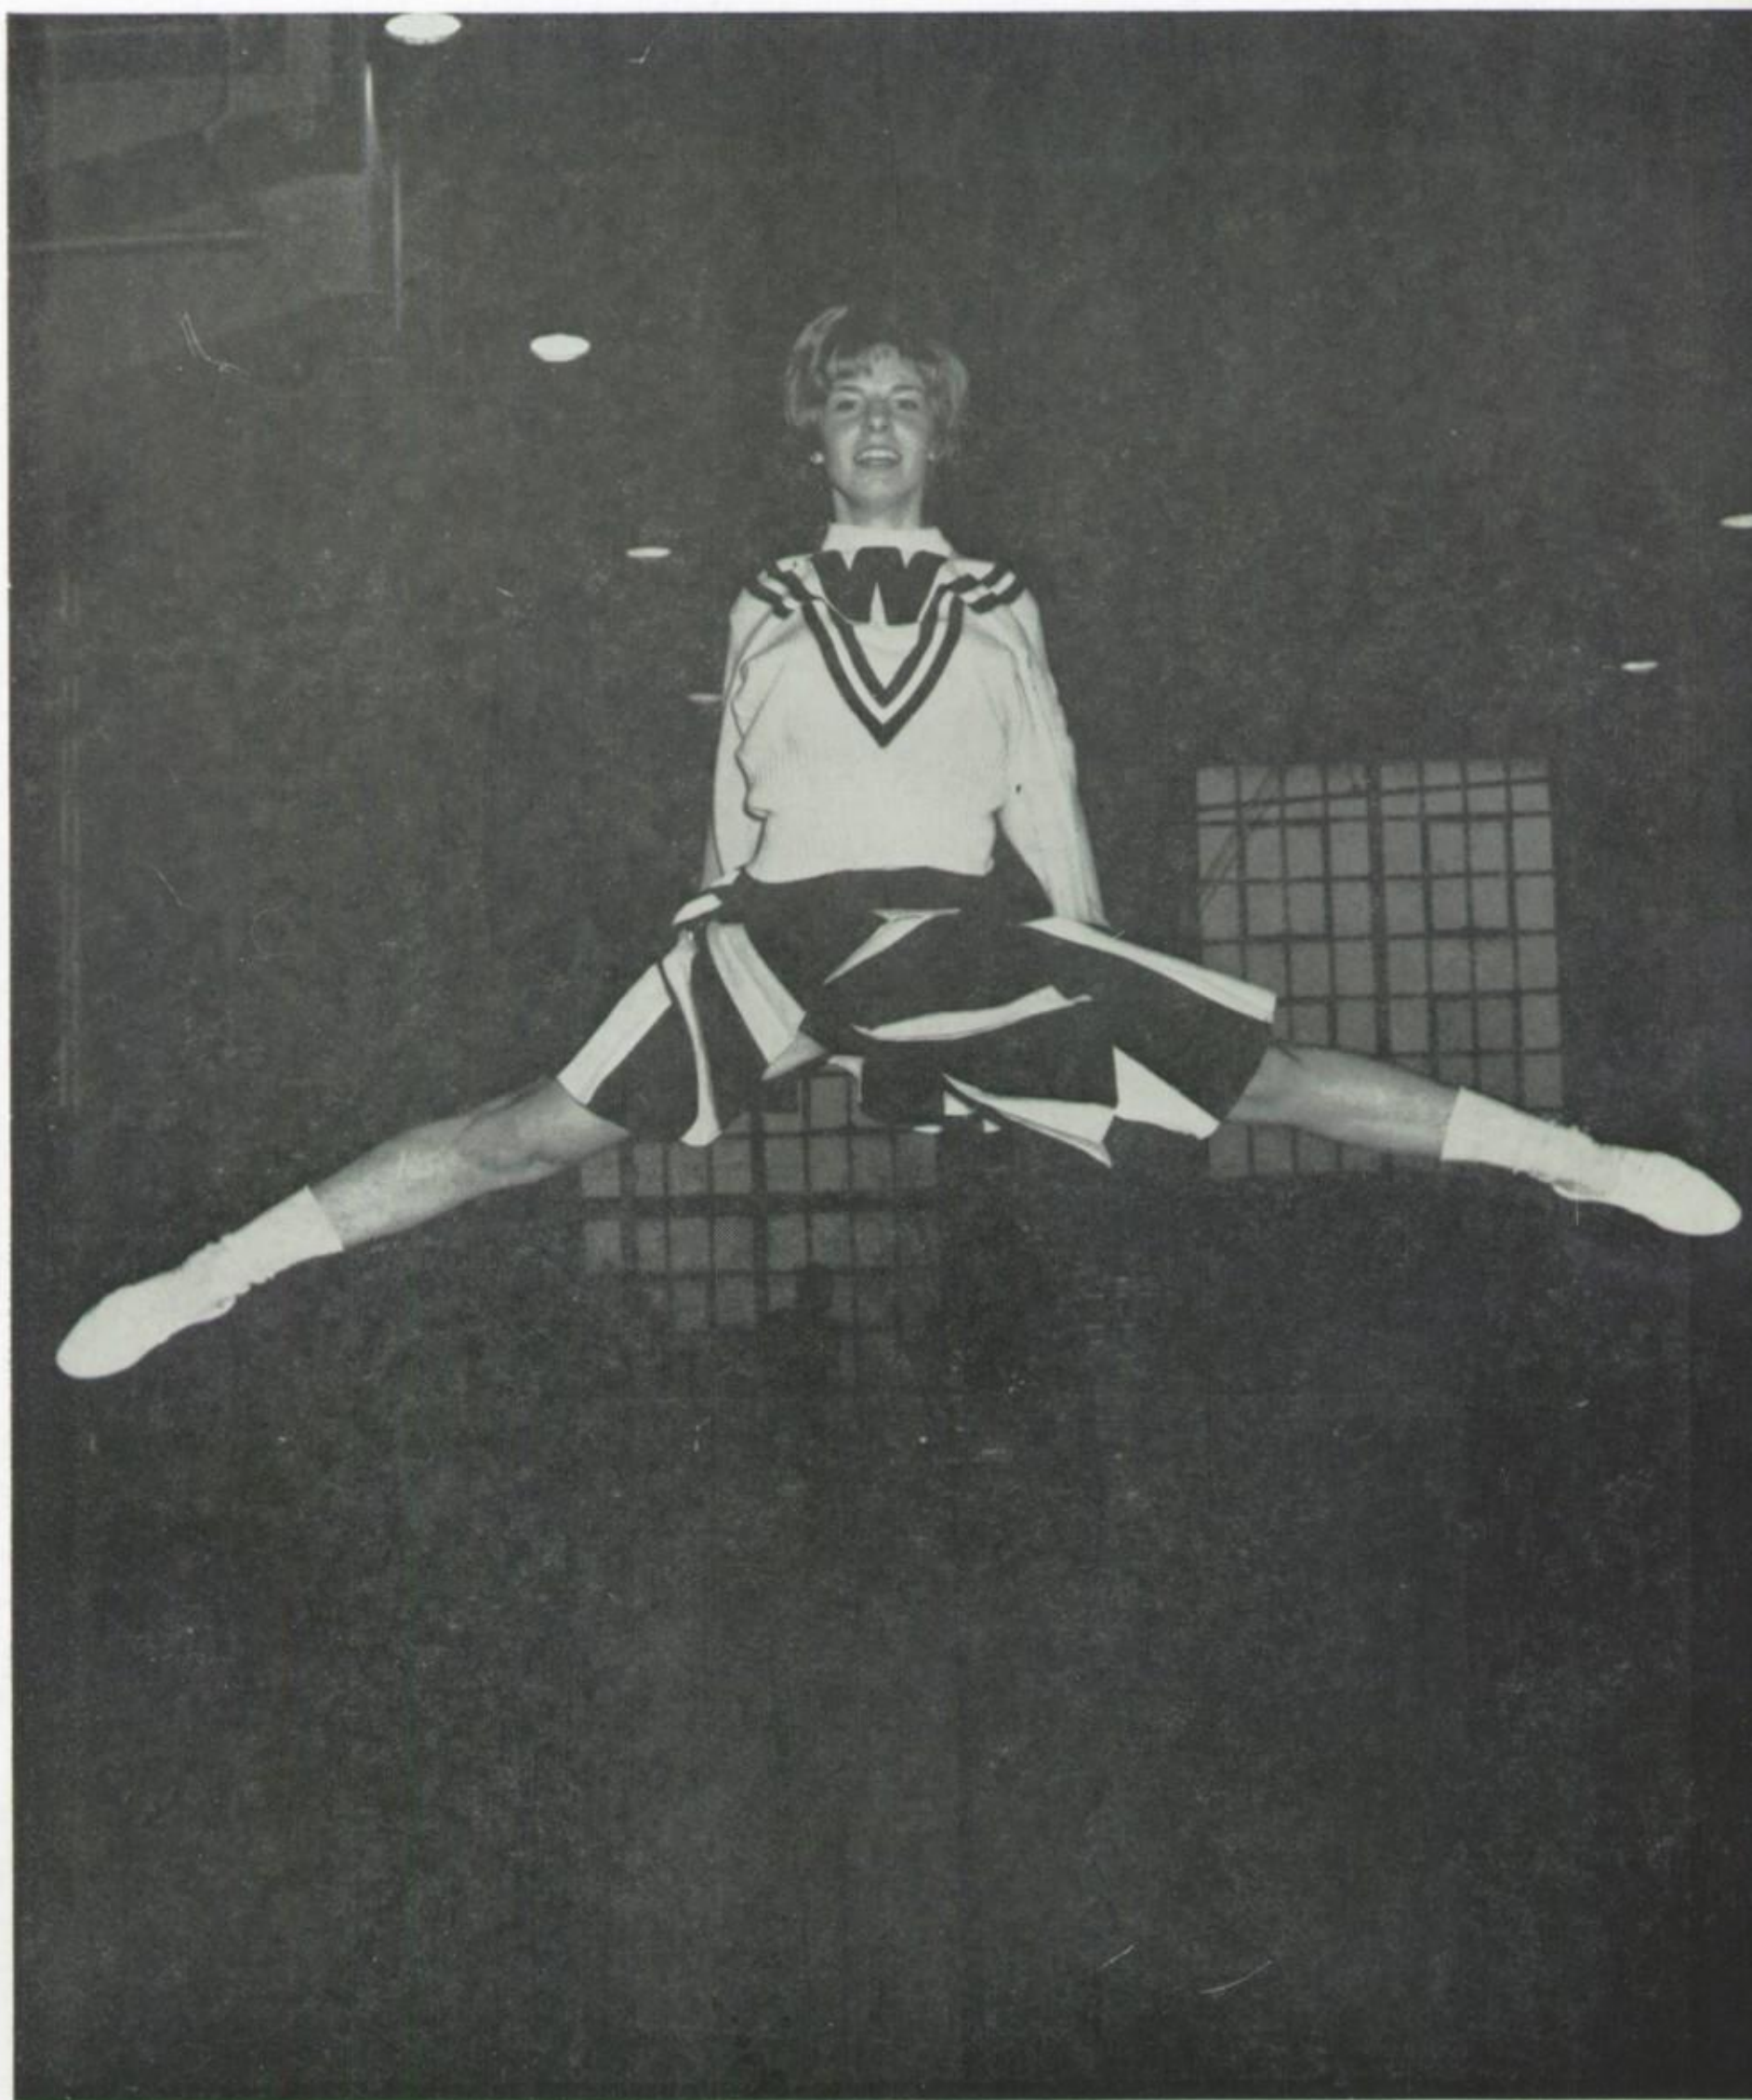

MARCHING BEAUTIES...Hard-working pom-pon girls and majorettes include front row: Marsha Russel, Teresa Lewis, Sherry Benson, Brenda Donavon, Pat Attkisson, and Judy Brown; back row: Bonnie Voelkel, Sue Leach, Vicki Tribulak, Jean Yaryan, and Kathy Tibbets.

A QUEEN'S SMILE! David Pence places the 1965 homecoming crown on lovely Portia Lanham during the half-time ceremonies.

I'VE GOT SPIRIT! Varsity cheerleader Phyllis Abbott displays an enthusiastic burst of spirit as she demonstrates Chinese-splits in mid-air. Cheerleaders spend many hours practicing yells and developing new routines.

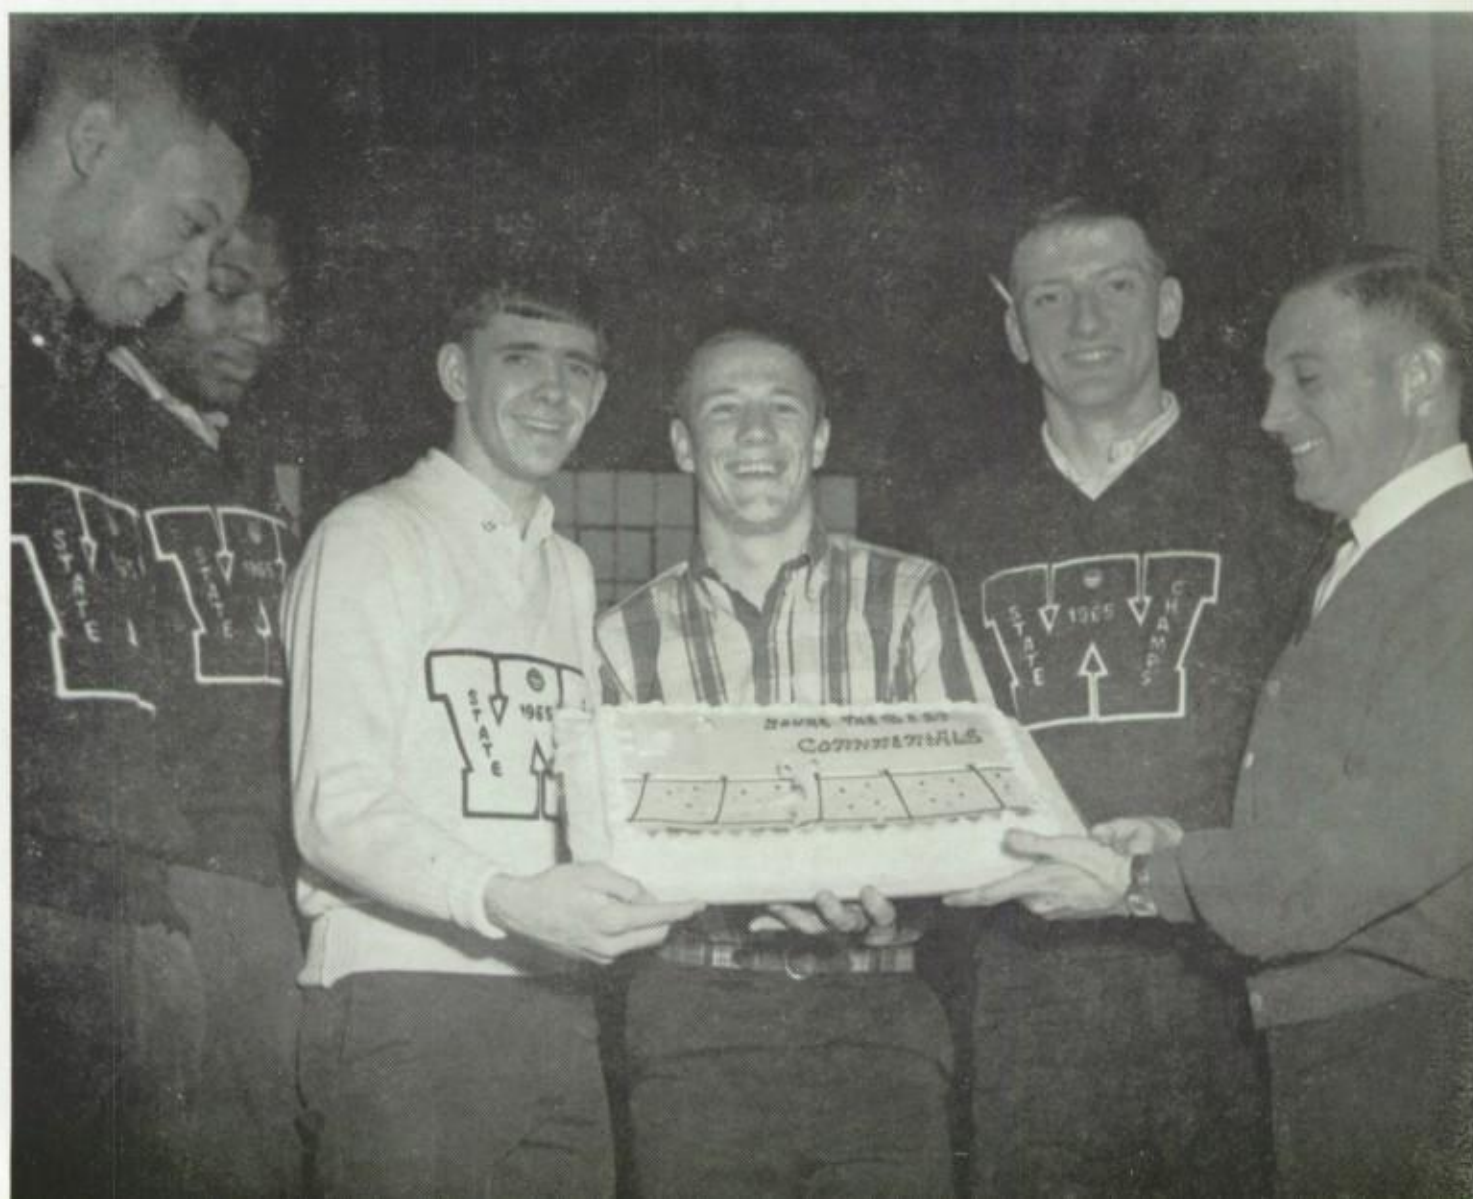

INSIDE WASHINGTON . . .

Enthusiatic spirit fills the halls.

It can't be seen, heard, or touched, but deep in the heart of a "Continental", it is there.

This is spirit—that intangible something that is found in every activity at Washington. This emotion sparks a discouraged basketball team to victory. It relieves the tension of stage fright on the opening night of a school play. It encourages a disappointed student. This spirit ensures the total success of every endeavor at Washington.

YOU'RE THE BEST! Coach Jerry Oliver and the starting five were presented with a cake at the sectional pep session. The "Mighty Continentals" are: Marvin Winkler, William Rogers, Bill Ott, Roger Law, Mark Gladson, and Coach Oliver.

INSIDE WASHINGTON . . .

Continental attend social activities.

Energy is best displayed through the minds and bodies of today's youth. We at Washington provide no exception. Through active participation in intra-school activities, Continentals attain leadership, fellowship, and a more active mind and body. The active youth of today will soon become the energetic adult of tomorrow, better prepared to meet this challenge because he has participated actively in intra-school activities.

DONATIONS? Collecting for the annual Care Project are Linda Kays, Russell Rue, Teresa Boles, and Kyla Ezman. The drive is sponsored by the language department.

JOHNNIE AND CONNIE...Reigning as king and queen at the Johnnie and Connie Continental Dance are Larry Zore and Teresa Lewis. The dance highlighted the annual yearbook campaign.

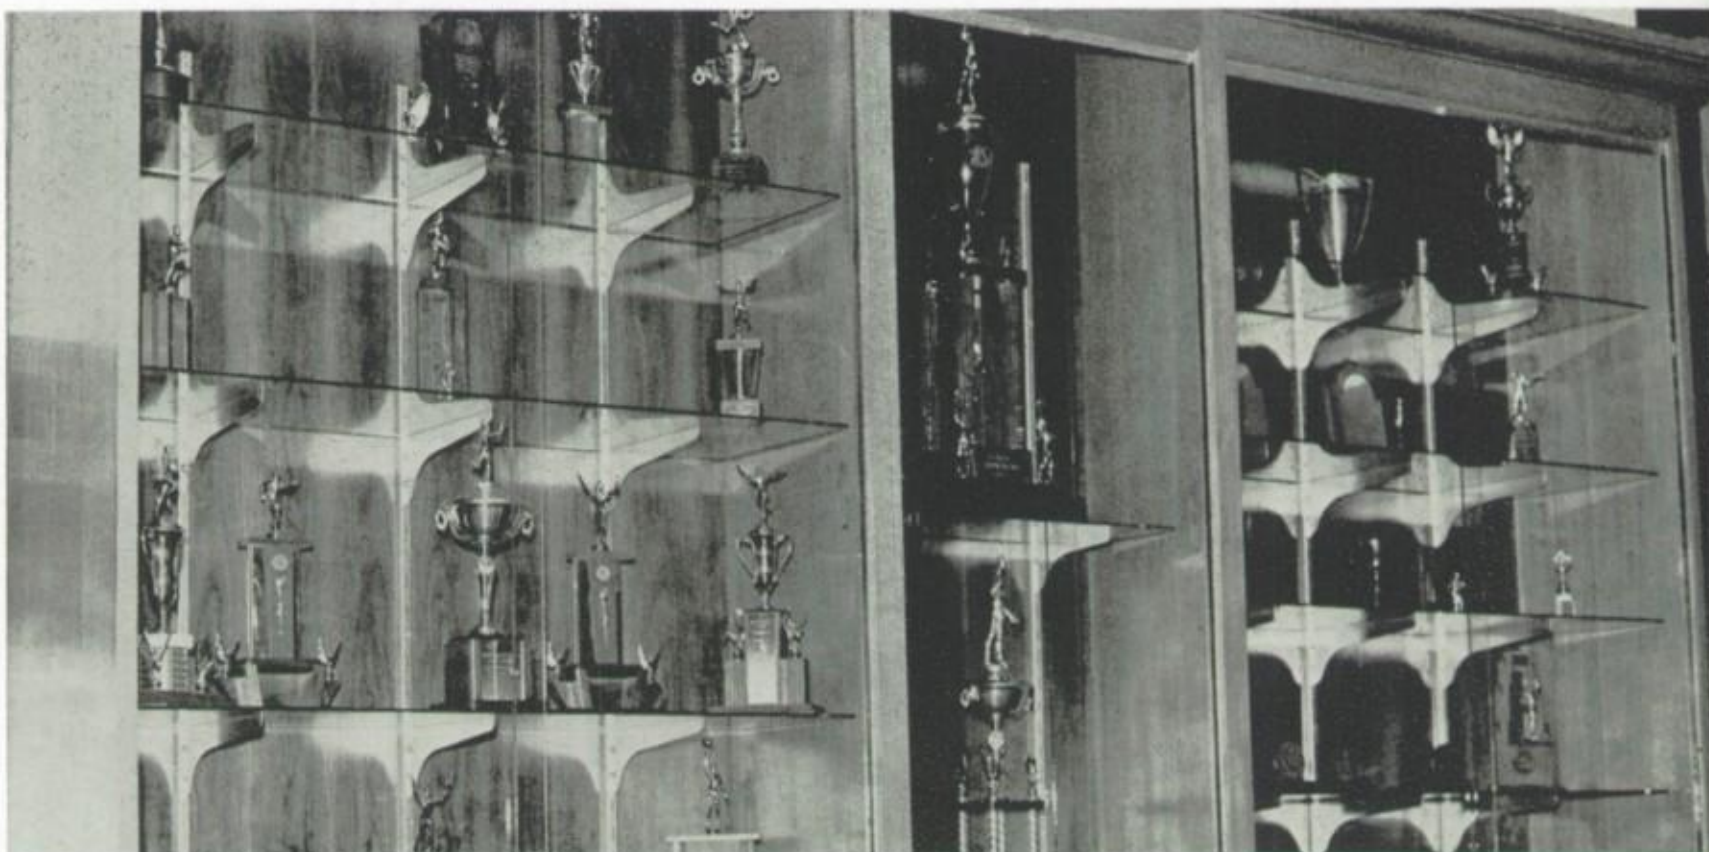

BUT COACH... Ron Deer and Marsha Russell are shown rehearsing for a segment of "Time Out for Ginger."

FOR THE QUEEN... Carl Pack and Danny Abney bring forth the traditional crown and roses for our annual Homecoming Queen.

CHAMPIONS! Debators Bob Lowery, Ken Haverstick, Tim Jacobs, and Gordon Dempsey review their material in preparation for another tournament.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS... A new trophy case was constructed in the main hall to display with pride the many awards that have been presented to successful Continentals.

SEE WHAT I GOT! Roseann Skiles and Joan Turner stop for a moment to admire their souvenirs. Both girls were winners in the Honors Abroad Program resulting in a trip to Mexico for Roseann, and to France for Joan.

INSIDE WASHINGTON . . .

Continental's are proud of their achievements.

An achievement is a hard fought victory, a struggle to win, and a feeling of self pride. Confidence covers the mind and body of the winner as well as fellow students. Washington's achievements cover a wide range of activities, both educational and extra-curricular.

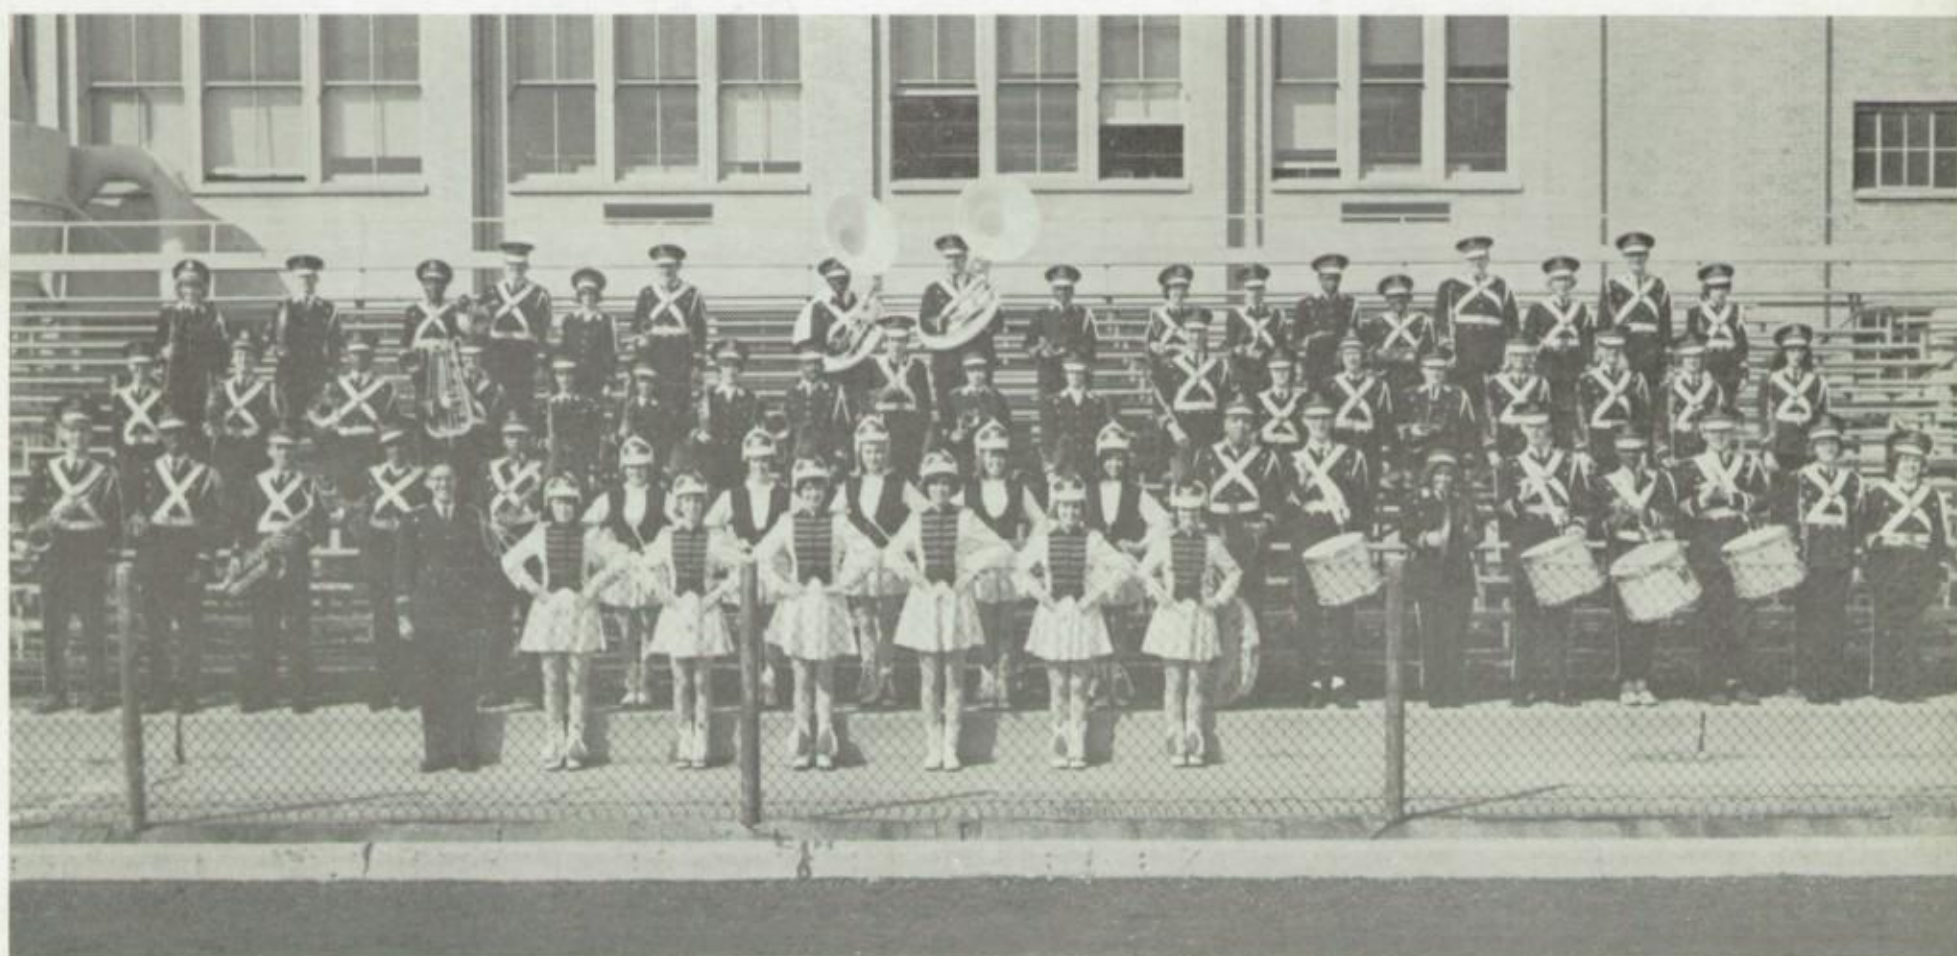

BIG SHOT...Kept busy with her high position, Sherry Tipton is now serving as State President of the D. C. E. Program.

SHE'S A WINNER! Senior Jennifer Gearries was presented with the DAR Good Citizen Award.

Students excel in

Under the direction of Mr. William Stubblefield, the orchestra groups have soared to great heights. The music produced by the symphony and the more advanced Mount Vernon Strings require many long hours of practice and hard work..

The Boys' and Girls' Concert Clubs have, for many years, been the starting point for students interested in specialized vocal music. Mr. Thomas McCormick leads the Boys' Concert Club. The Girls' Concert Club is directed by Mrs. Ruth King.

One of the more advanced vocal music groups is the Colonial Chorus directed by Mr. Charles Hamilton. One of the highlights of their season is the caroling at Christmas.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT! The girls striving to reach this goal are Patti Hendrickson, Beverly Fleming, and Terry Ware.

Continental display

Donned in purple coats and three-cornered hats, the Drum and Bugle Corps was a gay addition to the "Mighty Marching Continentals." At various activities and half-time shows, the majorettes, band members, and pom-pom girls performed their unique routines under the direction of Mr. Ray Funk.

Among the select vocal groups are the Girls Ensemble directed by Mrs. Ruth King, and the very talented Continentals accompanied by Mr. Charles Thatcher. Both groups acknowledge invitations from church, school, and community functions. Representing Washington High School, these groups spend many hours practicing in order to give their very best performances. Throughout the year they reflect their hard work, displaying at all times the outstanding talent at Washington High School.

Whether it's helping out at home, preparing for a family in the future, or just self-interest, girls find home economics courses very valuable. Knowing basic foods and how to prepare them well is a must for successful homemakers. Economy creeps in when we think of the ever-growing costs of fashions today. What once were drab, homemade clothes take on stylish tailoring with new techniques being taught to all clothing classes. Today, more than ever, the homemakers are aware of the increasing prices and our high standard of living. Choosing a balanced diet and a basic wardrobe on a limited budget is a job for an experienced home economist.

In the man's world, shop students get practical experience with modern, up-to-date machinery. These on-the-job skills provide the knowledge needed for industrial employment. Variety flourishes in the Industrial Arts Department, from drafting to auto mechanics. Also included are various classes in woodwork, electricity, printing, mechanical drawing, and machine shop. Industrial technology opens a wide field of employment for the skilled worker. These available jobs contribute to the lowest unemployment rate our country has ever experienced.

ALL ON HIS OWN! Randy Fancher works with care, while Mr. Brown stands by to observe.

A LITTLE SQUIRT HERE. . . Working under a car lift, Marvin Wilson finds greasing his car much easier.

DEWEY COMES TO OUR AID! Darrell Gruca finds our library facilities will accommodate him with references for any need.

TOP BRASS! Serving at the head of the English Department is Mr Joseph F. Dutton.

HANDY HELPER... Linda Barnaby devotes a period a day as the assistant for the English Department.

MONEY, BANKS, AND MILLIONAIRES...Mr. Ronald Thomas attempts to explain the economic setup of private enterprise. This year his economics classes established mock businesses in order to study all phases of our economy.

Social Studies broaden the world . . .

AMERICA PROSPERS...Dick Zeronik points out to Diane Felice the increased flow of capital and savings in our economy today.

AROUND THE WORLD! During their world history class, Nancy Strain, Everett Kunzelman, Mike Lawson, and Betty Coop use the globe in tracing a remote area of Africa.

The knowledge of good English has continued to be one of the most important assets of achievement and success. Our English Department is equipped with the finest teachers, ones who encourage and stimulate interest. To increase speed and comprehension, the reading laboratory is available to English students for one semester. Three years of regular English and two semesters of advanced English are required for Academic and Fine and Practical Arts diplomas. In addition to regular English courses, students may elect speech or debate which work to sharpen the mind and help one in self-expression. The library supplies ample resources for research papers, reports, and pleasure reading. These facilities in our English Department are combined to challenge students to advance their knowledge in all areas of education.

ANOTHER ONE? Jerry Myers gives an exasperating look as Mr. Kettler adds to his overflow of semester texts.

EX-AM-I-NA-TIONS! The freshmen in this English I class find that grammar exams require much thought and concentration.

COMO ESTA USTED? Roseanne Skiles poses with some souvenirs from Mexico and many warm memories as a participant in the Honors Abroad Program.

The United States is no longer an isolated nation. Every year there are more and more people traveling abroad, making the knowledge of a foreign language almost a necessity. Our Language Department is continually increasing with the purpose of broadening interest in foreign countries throughout the world. Each year Indiana University sponsors the Honors Abroad Program where outstanding language students are given the opportunity to live abroad during the summer months.

History, functions of the government, and economy all intertwine to form the top Social Studies Department in the state. As our government and those of other nations continue to grow, it becomes the responsibility of every citizen to express himself and his opinions. We have that opportunity by living in a democracy, but we must first attain the knowledge that will enable us to make wise and useful decisions.

This is the Atomic Age. Now more than ever the demand for outstanding scientists continues to increase. Here at Washington science laboratories are well equipped for the finest training in all fields. Students are required to take two years of science but may go on to elect any of the advanced courses such as chemistry, physics, or advanced biology. In addition, our school has one of the largest science libraries in the state.

Going hand in hand with science is mathematics. Complicated discoveries and experiments must be accurately formulated by highly trained mathematicians. The Math Department at Washington challenges students by offering such courses as algebra, geometry, trigonometry, general math, business arithmetic, and applied math. Like our science world, the field of mathematics is growing, and we must constantly search for new and improved methods to make future work efficient and accurate.

ALL SET? Larry Carnes and Warren McPhail, accompanied by Mr. Badgely, prepare to attend Math Day at Franklin College.

The upper halls of Washington have become an art gallery for the masterpieces from the various art classes. The art program includes craft art, commercial art, lettering, jewelry, and advanced courses in crafts and arts. Our students have had several of their projects on display at the John Herron Art Museum, Scholastic Art Exhibition, Eastgate, Glendale, Ayres, Hobby Show and Lieber's. The awards that are given are blue ribbons, gold keys, and honorable mentions.

Business courses are becoming vital to everyone considering a working career. Our school has a selection of courses to prepare one for the future. They include typing, shorthand, notehand, machine calculation, general business, business law, salesmanship, bookkeeping, merchandising, and introduction to data processing. To improve our facilities we have acquired a new shorthand lab. It has electric typewriters and dictaphones which enable the student to get authentic office practice. To reward progress in typing and shorthand, certificates are given to the students.

encourage discipline of mind and body . . .

Washington's ROTC Department took on a fresh look this year as it welcomed a new commandant, SFC Richard Stoe. Earlier in the year our ROTC Department was presented the G. W. Wolfe Memorial Trophy. All cadets have the opportunity to participate in various activities including the rifle team, color guard, and drill team. The year was highlighted by the annual Veteran's Day Parade in November, and in the spring by the Military Ball, in which one of the sponsors was crowned queen. Skills acquired by the cadets throughout the year have their last grand display in the annual Spring General Inspection. This is a proud day for our cadets, sponsors, and commandant.

Physical fitness and the need for daily exercise has become of major importance to our nation as a whole. Through the President's Physical Fitness Program, our school has sought to encourage young people to keep healthy in mind and body. Washington's program not only requires one year of physical education, but offers advanced classes in gymnastics. Extra-curricular activities include Continental Girls' Athletic Association, and of course, a wide variety of spring, fall, and winter sports.

EXPERT SYMMETRY...The girls in this physical education class have found that balance is the key factor in building human pyramids.

productions throughout the year . . .

The production staff at Washington begins their season early in the year and closes with the annual Junior Revue. Under the direction of Miss Colleen Stanley, stage hands and performers put forth their best efforts to make every play a success. Light comedies dominated this year's productions as "Time Out for Ginger" was presented for the fall play, and "My Three Angels" was given in the spring.

Highlighting the year's productions is the Junior Revue, presented in two performances during the month of April. Months of preparation go into a successful play, and the presentation of Rogers' and Hammerstein's "South Pacific" was no less than superb! Constantly working together as team directors, stage hands, make-up artists, and dressing room aides gives talented Continentals the opportunity to display their dramatic abilities backstage and on stage.

SMELL OF THE GREASE PAINT...Miss Stanley, director of productions, works diligently as she applies make-up on Jeff Brundage before his opening performance in "South Pacific."

Future journalists work hard to POST OFFICE STAFF...Staff members of your 1966 POST are Peggy Green, Lilia Georgiev, Cheryl Logue, Teresa Lewis, Sue Leach, Freda Blevins, Nancy Parks, Nancy McElfresh, Donna Burkert and Pam Shumacher.

A "king size" yearbook is a "king size" job, and the staff of the 1966 POST has experienced a year of unforgettable encounters including pressure of last minute deadlines, moderate cases of writer's cramps, misplaced pages and pictures, and numerous mechanical failures. On the other hand these crises become very minor when the last page is finally run off the press.

The duties of a yearbook journalist are widely varied, covering such activities as writing copy and cropping and pasting pictures for the yearbook dummy. Aside from their busy schedules, members of the staff need a sense of organization, punctuality, and a sincere interest in their work.

With a small staff and only two veteran seniors back, yearbook adviser Mr. David Knott has kept a hard and steady pace all year. Feelings of pride and satisfaction are high among the members of the 1966 POST staff. Though moments of tension rise with the growing pressure of work to be completed and everything seems that it can't be worse, the end comes in sight, everything goes together, and the result is inevitable—a yearbook to be remembered as the biggest and best POST ever!!

PASTE AND SCISSORS! Seniors Donna Burkert and Nancy McElfresh are hard at work in an effort to meet a pressing deadline. Pasting panels and cropping pictures are just two of the many jobs required to produce the yearbook.

CHIEFS OF STAFF... Important questions concerning the newspaper business are discussed by the assistant editor, Jennifer Gearries; the editor-in-chief, Charlotte Downin; and the news bureau chief, Sharon Sison.

"Cover your beat!" are familiar words to the Washington High School SURVEYOR staff. These newspaper journalists gained recognition for their hard work and were presented the All American Award by the National Scholastic Press Association, the highest award given to high school newspapers. This award was for editions of the SURVEYOR during the fall semester, 1965-66.

With every issue of the SURVEYOR comes on-the-spot news stories, various columns of general interest, and up-to-date sports news. Working with the editor-in-chief are the assistant editor, page editors, news bureau chief, cartoonists, photographers, and reporters. Each has his designated job and everyone works together as a team to publish one of the most outstanding school newspapers in the nation.

Printed bi-weekly, the SURVEYOR is continually improving through new and imaginative ideas of students who take a real interest in the operations of their school publications.

SURVEYING... Editors and reporters of the SURVEYOR staff are Clyde Small, Brenda Gregory, Patty Medley, Ronny Lewis, Dann Hines, Bing Fowler, Phyllis Abbott, Jeff Neely, Beverly Coryell, Cindy King, Jeanne Hoffman, Linda Dalton, Linda Miller, Charlene Sturgis, Joanna McKay, Sharon Sison, Donna Deter, Linda Pittman, Jennifer Gearries, and Ronnie Bauer.

ALL-AMERICANS! Editor-in-chief and page editors of the award winning SURVEYOR are Joanna McKay, Charlene Sturgis, Charlotte Downin, Jeff Neely, and Jennifer Gearries.

FELLOWSHIP AND SPORTS...Mark Gladson, William Rogers, Marvin Winkler, and Ronny Lewis attended the Fellowship of Christian Athletics at Henderson Harbor, Associated Islands, New York.

Working "behind the scenes" are students whose interest in Washington High School accounts for the outstanding leadership revealed throughout the school year. Besides individual instruction and experience gained at the summer workshops, the opportunity to exchange ideas and meet students from other schools is always present. Reflecting our own traditions and ideals, Washington has always been highly represented by imaginative, ambitious Continentals at the various summer workshops and institutes.

NOSE FOR NEWS! Joanna McKay and Charlotte Downin return from the Journalism Workshop with many bright, new ideas for this year's Surveyor.

WE THE PEOPLE... Representing Continental Land at the Student Council Workshop were Winston Fowler, Ron Deer, Patty Medley, and Sharon Folger.

JEKYLL OR HYDE? Science Club enthusiasts are Row 1: Christy Bradshaw, Linda Wilson, Lynette Woods, Larry Hillard, and Mrs. Crider; Row 2: Wayne Minton, Tim Zigler, Rick Winegar, Bob Zigler, and Steve Ward; Row 3: Mike Carter, Delores Oakes, Glenda Adkins, and Bobbie Somers.

Walking away with many honors for our school were members of the Science Club, several of whom participated in the State Science Fair. Their sponsor, Mrs. Elizabeth Crider, has worked hard with these science-minded students, devoting attention to their individual interests.

The Cadet Teachers and Red Cross members are faced with great responsibility requiring leadership and well-spent time. These young seniors are looking forward to an open and awarding future filled with many exciting and rewarding moments. A bright future lies ahead for these leaders of tomorrow.

The Red Cross members have very willingly devoted much of their time in giving aid to others. The reward for Red Cross members is the feeling of satisfaction they get when helping people in need. There are many exciting experiences in being a member of the High School Red Cross.

RED CROSS COUNTRY... Linda Barnaby, Mark Ballestero, and Pat Attkisson were elected as the 1965-66 Red Cross officers.

HEY SIS! With Mr. Julian are the Washingtonian officers: Nancy Parks, treasurer; Nancy Hughes, secretary; Bev Corryell, vice-president; and Gayle Trout, president.

ROTC sponsors are elected by the members of the ROTC classes. The candidates are chosen from the top girls scholastically in the junior class. Some of the various duties of the sponsors are to inspect, accompany the team to drill meets, and take part in the parades.

The Intra-City Council is composed of members of the student council. They attend meetings with other students from throughout the city to discuss the organization and improvement of their own student council and school.

The Washingtonians is a senior girls' service club. These girls help the freshmen girls adjust to high school by having a big sister, little sister party.

Clubs flourish as students gain

The Chessnut Club is sponsored by Mr. Jerald Wyman. Chess is the sport the members of this club love and enjoy playing. They play a few tournaments with other schools as well as among themselves. One need not have any knowledge of the game to attend their meetings.

Spurring the team and increasing school spirit is one of the big jobs of the pep band. Although this group was organized late in the year, they attended most of the basketball games. Besides going to the games, they accompany the student body and provide entertainment at the pep sessions.

Pupils qualifying for the Youth Work Program have after-school work hours under the direction of Mr. Richard Hedges. This gives an opportunity for students to earn a little money and to learn something about life in the working world.

Strike! A popular club at Washington is the Bowling League, sponsored by Mr. Yerich. Students have a chance to get better acquainted with their fellow classmates in this competitive activity. At the end of the year, trophies are awarded to many who have achieved highly in this area.

A much-sought-after position by many students in Continental Land is that of department assistant. This job gives pupils an inside look at the work of teachers and teaching techniques. The duties of the department assistant consist of typing, filing, running errands and doing any other jobs which the department chairman may have for him.

DIRECTOR IN CHARGE... Mr. Richard Hedges is the director of the new Youth Work Program initiated at Washington in September, 1965.

STRIKE OR SPARE? Bowlers in the 1965-66 league are Row 1: Mr. Steve Yerich, sponsor, Susan Castle, Cathy Tibbetts, Jenny Cary, and Elizabeth Wilson; Row 2: Alberta Stanley, Theresa Bales, Linda Bailey, Donna Zasi-movich, Debbie Wilson, Sue Spears, Sherry Benson, and Gwen Harper; Row 3: Larry White, Paul Harding, Rick Smith, Mike McCoy, Darrell Ball, Eugene McClure, and Ronnie Dalton.

Each semester outstanding academic students are honored by membership in the National Honor Society. They are awarded gold pins for their achievement in academics as well as attitude and good citizenship.

Devoted to the advancement of dramatic arts is the National Thespian Society. Students spend many enduring hours of hard work on stage to accumulate the needed points required for membership.

Debate and discussion have acquired outstanding recognition this year as they proudly present our school with a trophy after winning the NFL District title. As a result, some of our students will be traveling to Albuquerque, New Mexico, to vie for the NFL national title.

TIME OUT... The debate and discussion class relaxes a few minutes; however, their faithfulness and hard work has led them to numerous victories in tournament matches this year.

Cadet teachers at Washington go to the surrounding grade schools to maintain skills. They teach the classes, grade papers, and help teachers prepare tests. For their later schooling, this is valuable training. Practical experience becomes a necessity for a teaching career, and students at Washington have the opportunity to obtain "on the job" abilities as cadet teachers.

An honorary organization for students who participate in various speech activities is the National Forensic League. Membership is gained by accumulating points in speech tournaments throughout Indiana.

The Junto Club sponsored by Mr. Ronald Thomas is an interesting club at Washington High School. The members learn much from taking trips to museums and historical sites. Through these trips, history comes to life and takes on a new meaning. The members of the Junto Club believe that a better understanding of the past promotes a better understanding of the future.

Another club at Washington High School is the Latin Club sponsored by Miss Thelma Parks. This organization helps to make Latin interesting and enjoyable to the members. At their monthly meetings, the members discuss with their sponsor, their interests and the history of this romantic language.

One of the groups that earns credit along with much experience is the nurse's assistants. They work with the nurse and serve as receptionists and aids.

The bookstore assistants receive practical business experience in selling products and learning how to get along with people.

To help teachers with a projector or a film and prepare the film strips, the audial visual aids assistants are always ready.

The library assistants are very helpful. Always ready and willing, they help the librarian, Miss Reinhart, keep the library neat and clean. They also help repair the books and aid students in finding their selections.

These students become important assets to the teaching staff and departments, although sometimes it seems that they don't receive the credit that is due to them.

Varsity experience successful season;

This year's gridders under the direction of Coach Robert Springer displayed a tremendous amount of general spirit and determination, the determination that an inexperienced team must strongly possess. Although the Continentals were young and small in size, they overcame this deficit, concluding a successful season with a 5-4-1 record.

Washington's schedule was not an easy one either. The Continentals opened season play against strong South Central Conference Champion, Columbus. Upon downing them 13-12, the Continentals became a little more optimistic about their abilities as a team. The Springermen fought on and overcame many city as well as county rivals. They downed rival Southport 14-6 on their home territory.

An always strong Scecina team then fell victim to the Continentals, 25-22. This victory was one of the highlights of the season as it was the first time a Springer-coached Continental team ever defeated the Crusaders. Washington completed a very fine 1965 season by holding the Irish of arch-rival Cathedral to a 13-13 tie.

Reserves and Varsity combine efforts

What other way is there to improve than to suffer setbacks and learn to correct them? The Reserve football team suffered a disheartening 2-6 season, but through trial and error, they will be more active and alert next year when they advance to the Varsity level. The Reserves defeated such impressive teams as Manual, 24-14, and Howe, 19-7. A strong Scecina team stopped the "B" team, 19-12 in the second game of the year. They climaxed their season falling to Cathedral, 33-20. The Reserves were no different from the Varsity in that they were young and inexperienced.

Coaches Harmening and England worked diligently all season to instill good sportmanship and grid know-how in the heart and mind of each member of the squad. Next year should prove their efforts were worthwhile.

TOUCHDOWN! Official referee signals another touchdown for the "Mighty Continentals" in a freshman game on our home field.

The "Little Purple", coached by Mr. Munshower and Mr. Williams, gave a preview of their future football abilities by earning a very respectable 4-4 record. They opened the 1965 season by trouncing Manual, 28-7. The team then went on to beat Attucks, 14-6, and Scecina, 12-6. All three schools were city strong-holds and defeating them gave each individual player an inner feeling of self-achievement and satisfaction.

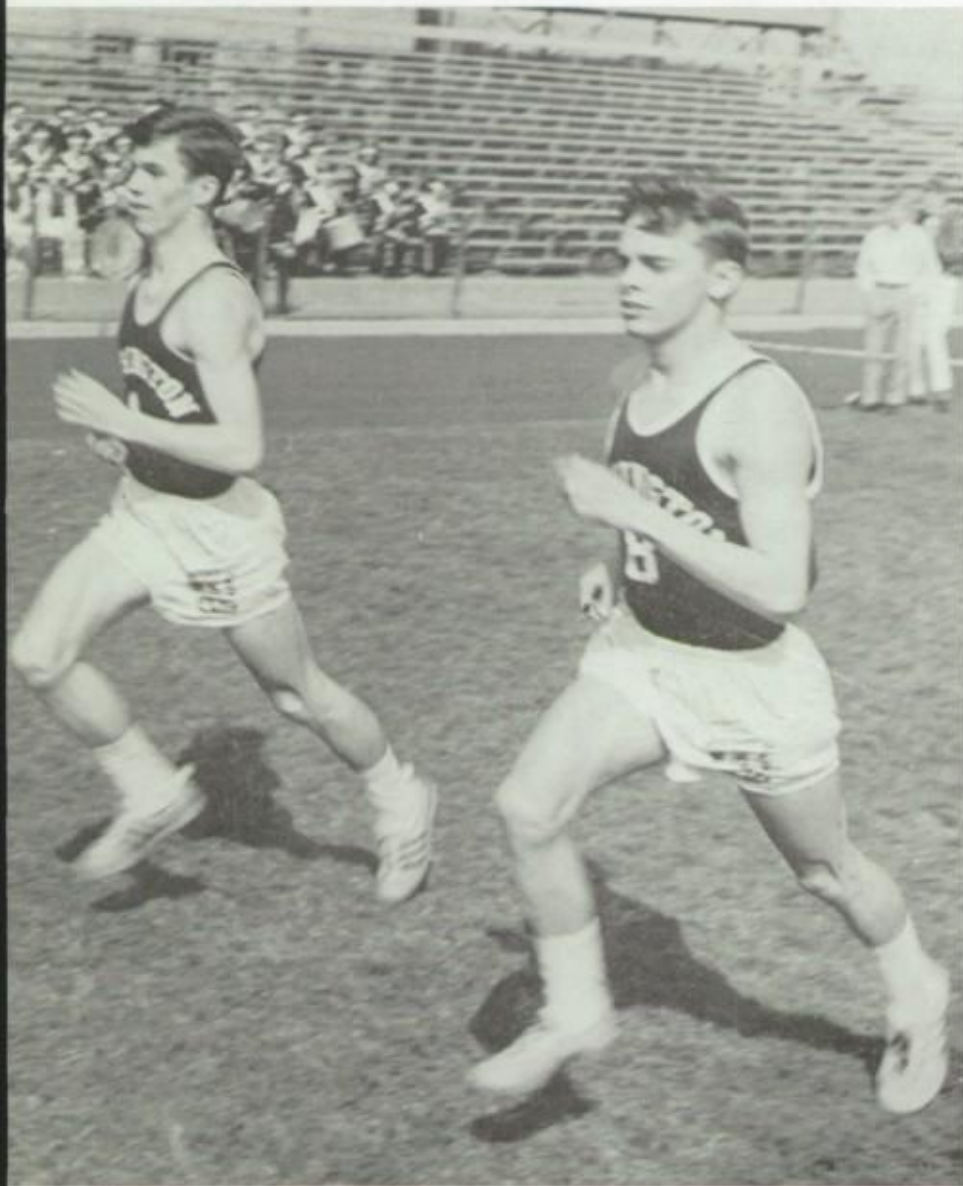

The Freshman squad received their first defeat of the season at the hands of Broad Ripple, 27-7. They bounced back, however, by clobbering Ben Davis, 26-0, in their final victory of the year. The "Little Purple" climaxed their freshman career by suffering defeats from three very capable teams—Tech, 26-7, Howe, 12-6, and Cathedral, 14-13. After such a fine season, the "Little Purple" are now ready to advance to bigger and better things. This year's Frosh squad will be contributors to next year's Continental Reserve and Varsity rosters.

Cross country teams "hit the heights . . ."

PACE SETTERS! Outstanding senior captains Ralph Grider and John Willoughby sprint vigorously at a pre-meet practice.

The 1965 Reserve and Varsity Cross Country teams had a near utopian season. The Varsity won ten and lost one, receiving ten first places and one fourth place. The harriers won such important meets as the Columbus Invitational, in which 26 teams were entered, Southport Invitational, and the Shortridge Invitational. Washington also gained high recognition by placing first in the city, and being Sectional and Regional Champions.

The outstanding reserve harriers experienced an undefeated season, winning seven meets and losing none. They were also city champions. With such an excellent record of performance, next year's team will have a lot of measuring up to do if it is going to even come close to matching this year's team. However, with the guidance of brilliant coach John Bradley, Washington can look forward to winning many more cross country honors next year and in the years to come.

Washington teams may not be consistent in winning state titles, but then, what school is? There is one thing that every Continental basketball team has had in common, however, and that has been the desire and ability to win. This year the Varsity squad compiled a 19-5 record.

Rated in the top ten all year, and number one in the state at one time, the Olivermen carried on the tradition of being one of Indiana's finest teams. Many state-rated teams were located in Indianapolis this year making the city the Basketball Capital of Indiana.

After outscoring Howe in regular season play and Shortridge in the city tourney, both schools sought revenge and defeated the Continentals in their second meeting of the season. Indianapolis Tech, state runnerup, slid past the Continentals by only four points during the regular season. Washington's 83-77 triumph over highly regarded Wood was one of the highlights of the year.

This year, as in the past, Jerry Oliver can be justly proud of being coach of the great "Fightin' Continentals."

MARVELOUS MARV! Breaking Oscar Robertson's season scoring record and being selected to the All-State team were two of many honors gained this year by scoring ace Marvin Winkler. The Big O's record of 541 points was shattered by Marvin's season total of 590 points.

Defending Champs upset in Sectional . . .

Not having sufficiently recovered from last year's roundball excitement, the Continentals, as determined as they were, could not bring us another Sectional victory. The local teams were just too much to handle. It seems they're always out to beat the best, and this year Tech did. In the Sectional the Continentals walloped Broad Ripple 90-60. But, even David couldn't hold back the Goliath team from Tech. However, the ex-Champions fell as Champions to Tech in the afternoon game of the Sectional by a score of 83-74 at Butler Fieldhouse. This game wound up a magnificent 19-5 season and kept the Continentals the "Pride of the Westside."

This year, as last year, Washington will be represented in the Indiana-Kentucky All Star benefit game. Marvin Winkler will wear the lucky number 7 in this year's tilt. He will not only represent the entire state of Indiana, but he will also represent the proud student body and community of Washington and The Westside.

JUMPING JACK?? Center Will "Feets" Rogers leaps high into the air for a lay-in during the Gerstmeyer game. The Continentals went on to win the game, 71-56.

ATHLETES' FEETS... During a time out, Coach Oliver chalks up some defensive strategy for the members of his starting five. It must have worked because the Continentals went on to beat Broad Ripple, 90-60, in the first game of the Sectional.

Reserve record reveals ability . . .

Washington's Reserve basketball team opened a brilliant season by trouncing its first four opponents by an average of 18 points. In the season opener, the "B" team downed Howe, 47-29. From here they went on to defeat Hammond and a strong team from South Bend Central. Coach Richard Harmening's boys put down such rivals as Southport, Shortridge, and Tech, making this year's squad one of the strongest reserve squads ever at Washington High School.

The Reserves, as their Varsity and Freshmen teammates, advanced to the final game of the City Tourney. Being beaten by Manual during the regular season, the Continentals came back in the semi-final game and stunned the Redskins by a 63-27 score. They lost a 46-44 heatbreaker to Tech in the finale. The Reserves ended the season with a compiled record of 18-4. With such a record, the outlook for next year's Varsity is good.

HIGHER THAN A GIANT?? Reserve ace Ray Shaffer struggles to be higher than opponent Giants from Ben Davis. His two points helped his team score a landslide 57-29 victory over rival Westsiders.

FROSH TALENT! Talent abounded on the freshman team this year. George McGinnis, 6' 4" freshman, was one of the most talented. Here he is shown scoring in one of the varsity games.

Frosh score winning 16-3 record . . .

It is difficult to stop Continental basketball players from achieving success. Beginning with the freshman year, Coach Russell McConnell trains and grooms his corps of basketball-players-to-be in the fundamentals of basketball and sportsmanship. This knowledge carries them on to great advancements in the sport of basketball. And, it is evident that his efforts were not in vain by the proven accomplishments made by former players of his.

This year's fresman team won 16 games and lost only 3. They were runners-up for the City Championship, losing to Tech, 44-41. They later turned the tables on the Titans, winning by a 49-44 score.

Grapplers achieve many honors . . .

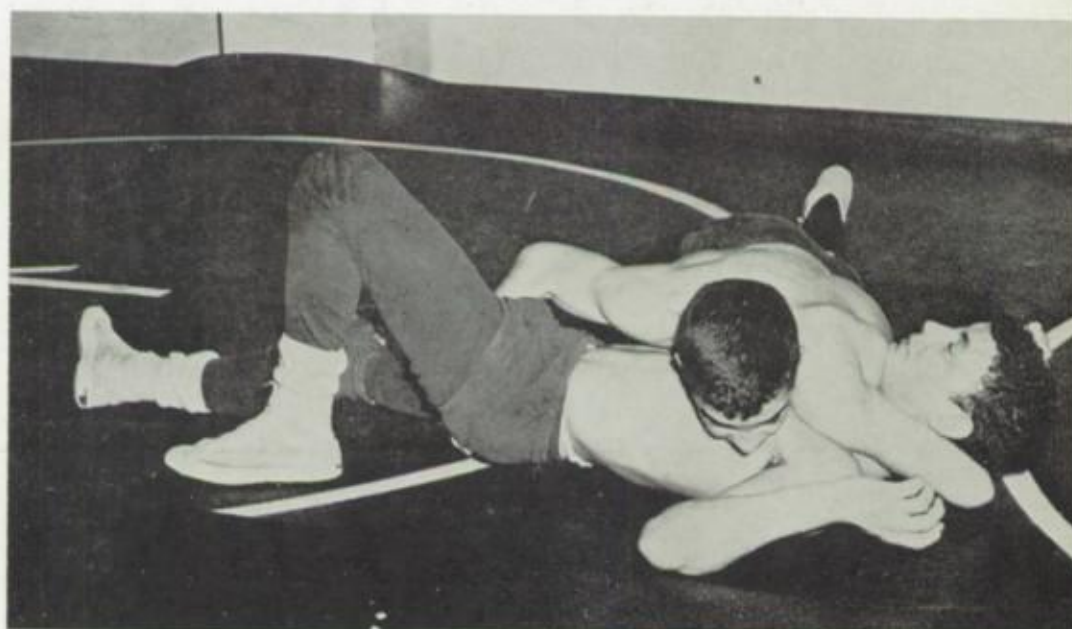

What person is more qualified to coach a Continental wrestling team than a former Continental? This was the consensus of opinion upon the hiring of new head wrestling coach, Joe Shires. Having previously attended Washington and recently been graduated from Hanover College, Coach Shires possessed the "young blood" that was needed to build an enthusiastic squad of young grapplers.

And enthusiastic they were. The Varsity had a compiled record of 6-5-1. They broke such "strongholds" as Scecina, 31-21, and Wood, 39-11. They also downed Manual, 30-22, and Ripple, 32-14. Two Varsity wrestlers, Bill Robinson and Douglas "Whitey" Watson, earned the title of City and Sectional Champions; however, the entire squad as a team placed fifth in the meet. These boys advanced to the Regional and "Whitey" gained personal esteem by placing third in the State.

The Reserve team earned a 5-6-1 record and they are looking forward to next year when they can also prove their abilities as wrestlers.

Diamond Varsity and Reserve squads

With half the season gone, the Varsity baseball team is batting .500. After a disheartening 4-3 extra inning loss to Kokomo, the Luzarmen came back strong to beat Shelbyville, 3-1, at Rhodius. They then became more confident and were determined to raise their season average. However, all good teams must lose now and then, and the Continentals met defeat at the bat of sister school Northwest, 10-1. One of the games that will long be remembered is the tremendous 18-4 victory over the Spartans from Sacred Heart. The diamondmen brought the Shortridge team to a halt by a 2-1 margin. This was outstanding because Shortridge walloped Cathedral, and Cathedral was considered one of the stronger teams in the city this year. Although the record is average, the chance for a second consecutive city championship is possible, but not probable this year. With about half the team graduating, Coach Luzar is already making plans for next year's team which mainly will be comprised of the remaining varsity and reserve hopefuls.

School records shattered while

With the season almost over, the Varsity track team is again proving itself to be one of the "hottest" teams around. The Ormanmen opened the year with a 68-41 victory over Terre Haute Wiley. Shortridge was the next to fall as the tracksters "burned" to a 72-37 triumph. The first loss of the season was to highly regarded Tech, 72-46. But the Continentals kept their heads and went on to beat Lafayette Jeff, 62-56. They also brought the Columbus and Howe teams to a screeching halt by a margin of 79-18-50, respectively. Once more the Continentals encountered Tech in the North Central Relays. Their efforts fell short, however, by $\frac{1}{2}$ point. In the City Meet, the Cindermen were shy of the championship by only four points.

The Continental track team again captured the Sectional crown. Senior Rick Blake set a new 13-2 pole vault record to shatter the old one of 12-8 $\frac{1}{2}$ set last year. Outstanding sprinter Larry Highbaugh set a new Sectional record in the 220, covering the distance in :21.8. This victory was the Continentals' 13th IHSAA track sectional crown since 1933.

TAKE YOUR MARK! Speedster Larry Highbaugh takes his mark before one of his fast timed runs. Larry achieved honors in the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard dash, and the 880 relay events.

MY SERVE! Senior John Chapman demonstrates the all-important serve before a match at Rhodius park. John is one of the veterans of the team.

The Continental tennis team had a rather disappointing season, but their love for the sport kept their spirits alive. The racketmen won their opening match of the season, defeating Arlington 7-0, but they could never regain success after that. The tennis team came close to defeating Wood, but their efforts fell short by a score of 4-3.

Hampered by the ineligibility of two veteran players, the tennis team was young in ability and experience this year. Coach Robert Springer hopes that the knowledge received this year will be beneficial to the team next year. Half of the tennis team will be graduating, and the remaining players will have to carry on the burden of leadership and dependability. Every team must rebuild in order to finally achieve, and those members who are not seniors have been working vigorously and diligently this year towards that goal.

Tennis is one of the most popular sports on the college level. It is, however, becoming more popular to all ages, and it is Coach Springer's hope that next year's roster will include more individuals interested in the sport of tennis.

Tennis players have disappointing season . . .

COME TO ME... Kenny Wolfe, one of the three seniors on the tennis team, is shown awaiting the ball while practicing his stroke at an evening practice.

RACKET SQUAD! Members of the Varsity tennis team are Row 1: Kenny Wolfe, John Chapman, and Ronald Knox; Row 2: Vernon Wade, Richard Kadel, George Alexander, and Coach Robert Springer.

TEE-OFF... Those golfers who comprise our golf team are Bill Coffman, Tony Napoleon, Phil Jenkins, Coach Oliver, Steve Kuszmaul, and Ronny Lewis. All are seniors except Tony who is a junior.

Golfers experience rugged year . . .

The Continental golf team played a little under par this season, but they had the fortitude to accept their shortcomings. They lost their first four meets by identical scores of 8-4 to such greats as Chatard, Tech, Arlington, and Warren Central. They then beat Sacred Heart, 12-0, and Attucks, 12-0, to lift their spirits before the City Meet Trials. Phil Jenkins, senior swinger, was the only member of the golf team to advance in the city meet. Coach Jerry Oliver will be losing four of five golfers to graduation, so new recruits for next year's team must be sought. Golf is rapidly becoming a more popular sport, so the outlook for next year is more than favorable.

Seniors Ronny Lewis and Bill Coffman received the Chick Evans Golf Scholarship and they will attend Indiana University next fall.

WHACK!! Phil Jenkins shows how to send a golf ball spinning as he executes a drive at practice. Phil placed fourth in the city golf meet.

Cheerblock, Lettermen enforce school pride . .

CONTINENTALS, OOH! AAH! Loyal Washington fans whoop it up during the Terre Haute Gerstmeyer game at Indiana Central.

This year's Lettermen's Club, sponsored by Coach Gerald England, represented the "cream of Washington's crop" of athletes. The club met at various times throughout the year in order to promote school pride and spirit. The Lettermen helped form a cheerblock for all important games. On November 23, the Lettermen traveled to Lafayette to view the Purdue University Varsity-Freshman game. To be eligible for membership in the Lettermen's Club, a boy must have excelled in a particular sport and have earned a block "W" in that sport.

Although no specific cheerblock was organized, Washington did have many loyal supporters who came to meetings and practiced various yells and routines. During the Sectionals, the block wore white shirts and blouses along with purple leis which were provided by the school. The cheerblock practiced during roll call periods in the balcony of the boys' gym. Without a following of loyal supporters, our Continental teams could not have functioned as effectively.

Continental Coeds promote school spirit . . .

1-2 READY KICK! Football Jamboree Queen Teresa Lewis is shown prepared for the "kickoff" of the football season.

No football game or any athletic contest would be complete without the participation of the "fairer sex." At the end of May, the 1965 football team selected the Jamboree Queen, Teresa Lewis, to represent them at the annual Football Jamboree the following September. Also in May, the Varsity Cheerleaders were selected. After long hours of practice throughout the summer months, these spirited females made their debut at the Jamboree at Tech. Their main objective was to promote school spirit and to lead the team on to victory. Introducing new yells to the student body and making signs are all part of a cheerleader's routine. In fact, part of the team's success was due to the crowd enthusiasm and desire. Without this success formula, no team can be triumphant. The perfect goal in athletics today is good sportsmanship between players and between schools. If this goal is achieved, today's youth will prosper in both mind and spirit.

HELLO TEAM? Varsity Football Cheerleaders Sue Spears, Phyllis Abbott, Donna Burkert, Nancy Parks, and Portia Lanham wave hello to the team before the kickoff of the Cathedral football game.

SPORTSMANSHIP... Broad Ripple cheerleader Kim Kerchival speaks at the Washington Sectional pep session in an effort to promote good feelings and spirit between our two rival schools.

CHEESE! Varsity basketball cheerleaders Donna Burkert, Nancy Parks, Phyllis Abbott, Sue Spears, and Portia Lanham pause to smile for the camera before the Ben Davis basketball game. This was Portia's and Sue's first year and Nancy's second year of cheerleading. Phyllis has completed three years, while Donna has become the first four-year cheerleader in the history of George Washington High School.

Cheerleaders "gleam" with pride . . .

The Varsity Cheerleaders, under the supervision of Miss Jean Amsden, had much to be proud of this year. After all, it isn't everyday your team is rated number one in the state. After faculty selection in May, the girls worked diligently smoothing out routines and developing yells. There was much glory and reward in being a Varsity Cheerleader, but this does not alter the fact that there was plenty of hard work and sacrifice. The Reserve squad, which was selected separately but in the same manner as the Varsity, received lasting experience in their first year as Continental Cheerleaders. They were given the difficult responsibility of creating new yells and motions. In October, both squads attended the Ben Davis Cheerleading Conference where the old proverb of "look, listen, and write down," prevailed.

Physical fitness is no longer required for athletes only. It is now the goal of practically every one of today's youths. Helping these youths to become physically strong and alert are hard working gym assistants. In order to become a gym assistant, one must have completed two years of gym and have the approval of a physical education teacher.

UPS AND DOWNS These three gym students are displaying their athletic ability by doing push-up exercises. They are the products of hard working gym teachers and assistants.

*The Inside
Story of Personalities*

The real truth inside Washington is reflected through its most important component—its personalities.

NUMBER ONE! Preparing for an all-school broadcast is our esteemed principal, Mr. Cloyd J. Julian.

Top brass are conscientious; administer

In step with the teen generation is a light-hearted, easy-going man who is adorned with the title of principal of George Washington High School—Mr. Cloyd J. Julian. His spirited personality denotes him as a stranger to none and a friend to all. On occasion, Mr. Julian closes the door to his private conference room to befriend little animals seeking refuge in Continental Land.

Mr. Justin Marshall, vice-principal, whose main duty is to prepare programs, aids Mr. Julian in counseling and guiding students with special problems.

Their many years of loyalty to Washington High School has not gone unnoticed. Their cooperation with pupils and teachers has won them respect from the entire faculty and student body.

PAPER PILE-UP... This is a condition Mr. Marshall is quite accustomed to. Our vice-principal devotes unlimited time to the year-round project of preparing semester programs.

CONFIDENTIAL... Mr. Audie Watkins, dean of boys, is the best man to see when personal problems arise.

BUSY BEE! Dean of girls, Miss Leunice Horne, pauses for a moment in arranging plans for another school activity.

With a continually growing student body, Washington High School is fortunate in having a second vice-principal, Mr. Leon Hunt. Working with Mr. Julian and Mr. Marshall, his schedule includes preparing student work programs, lunch passes, and many of the disciplinary problems.

Reprimanding students for wrong deeds is a tough job for our deans, Mr. Watkins and Miss Horne. Besides issuing disciplinary measures, their activities are numerous and keep them busy all year. Miss Horne, dean of girls, is in charge of school social activities and accompanies students to special luncheons and meetings. Our dean of boys, Mr. Watkins, comes to the aid when personal counseling is needed. Both the deans and administrators have a sincere interest in every Continental.

JUST A MINUTE PLEASE... Vice-principal Mr. Leon Hunt is hardly free long enough to have his picture snapped!

Office staff aids administrators . . .

Vital to the school's administration and its student body is the office staff. They keep things running smoothly and people in line. Although they don't receive the proper recognition, the school couldn't run without them. The office staff do various things such as checking attendance, issuing admit slips, registering new students, operating the switchboard, and handling various other secretarial duties.

INDIANA SESQUICENTENNIAL... Mrs. Anne Burge, head of the Social Studies Department, works with Don Jared and Connie Goldman on a project celebrating the 150th birthday of the state of Indiana.

Teachers work hard to aid pupils . . .

Being a teacher is more than just discussing or lecturing on the chapter and assigning homework. It takes patience, schooling, understanding, and hard work. Although every teacher must have completed four years of college, many return to further their education and receive their masters degrees. Some of our teachers have a diversified education and are capable of teaching in more than one department. Teachers are always kept busy by either studying, grading papers, or planning numerous projects.

"A" FOR THE DAY... Mrs. Sara Sagraves, business education teacher, keeps busy between classes correcting and grading papers.

TWO IN ONE! Besides planning English lessons, Mr. Richard Sharp also prepares each day for his U. S. History classes.

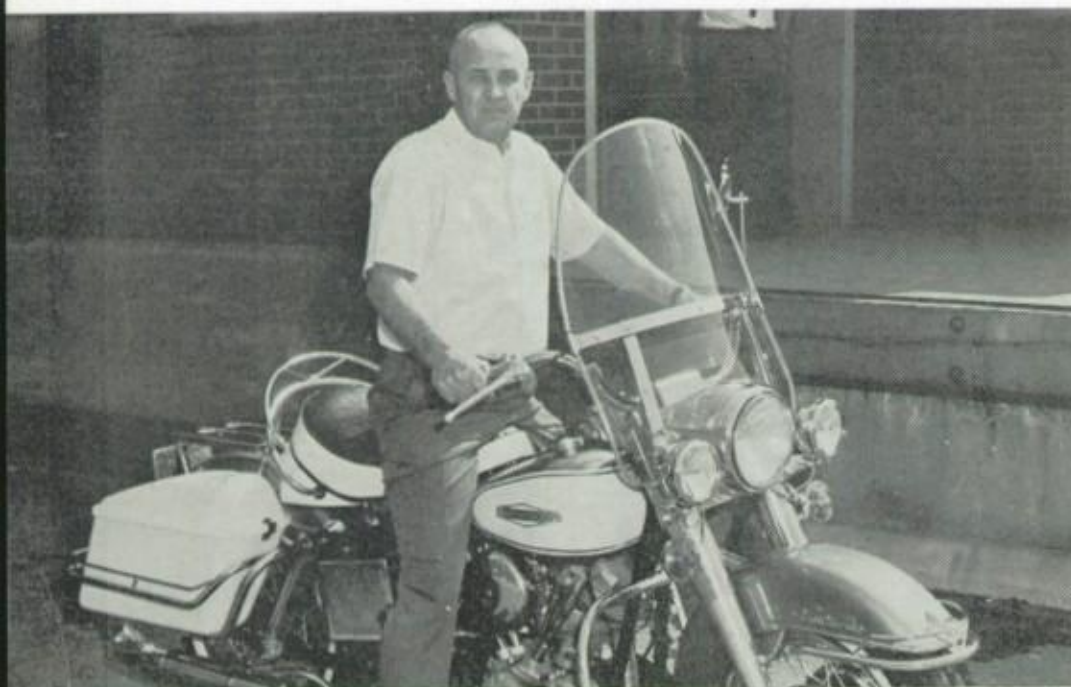

TWO POINTS... Mr. Robert Springer enjoys playing basketball. Here he is participating in the faculty-student game.

BOTTOMS UP... Mr. Joseph Green refreshes after lunch with a nice cold drink.

Teachers take break in busy schedule;

ZA-ROOOM!!! Nothing relaxes Mr. John Williams as a ride through the country on his Harley-Davidson.

Although teaching takes up most of a person's time, one can occasionally catch a few moments of leisure. During "off-time" teachers have their own individual interests and hobbies. Our teaching staff works very hard and are deserving of a little enjoyment from "extra-curricular activities."

The cooks are another hard working group. They prepare the food and make sure the cafeteria is clean and ready for use. Planning a well-balanced meal is another one of their most important duties. Growing teens need good, nourishing food, and we can always count on our Continental cooks to get the job done.

Giving recognition to the school's custodians is a job which is neglected far too often. Keeping our school spotless and neat is the main job of our busy janitors. They also keep the grounds clean, mow the lawn, and in the winter, keep the walks clear of snow.

A-1 CHEFS! Continental Cooks hard at work in our kitchen are Row 1: Ester McKenzie, Thelma Weikoff, Judy DeMarco, Florence Sperling, Jo Purichia, and Aileen Schmidli; Row 2: Betty Pyatt, Annette Quaikowski, Bessie Phieffer, Alma Hart, Lillian Musten, Ruby Patton, and Leva Vinson; Row 3: John Thorpe, Shirley Voelkel, Betty Brown, Gwen VanDeventer, Jo Koch, Alice Burton, Maxine Townsend, and Lela Oliver.

Cooks and janitors deserving of rest period . . .

DONNA BURKERT

HER MAJESTY...Senior Donna Burkert reigned over the annual Awards Day ceremonies in the Boys' Gymnasium, Wednesday, June 1. This honor is the most coveted honor any senior girl can be awarded at Washington.

LADIES IN WAITING... Lovely court anxiously awaits Awards Day. Princesses are Sherry Benson, Peggy Reynolds, Teresa Lewis, Thalia Davis, Christina Russell, and Sherry Tipton.

Honored Co-eds serve as May Day royalty . . .

The most envied honor any senior girl can earn is the title of May Queen. The candidates are from the top third of the senior girls. This group is cut down to a group of twenty-one girls, then the juniors and seniors vote to select the Queen and her court. These six girls preside over the Senior Prom and the Awards Day Ceremonies, where they present the scholastic, athletic, and service awards. This day was established to present special awards and to give the seniors a personal and final farewell.

Seniors are active in school politics

At the beginning of each year at George Washington High School the seniors have primary elections for the officers which will represent the senior class. The campaign lasts for about two weeks and then the final seniors are elected. The campaign is carried out as a regular primary election and the officers make promises and speeches.

Before the end of each spring semester, the senior fashion board members are selected for the following year. These girls attend meetings where they model and help further the trend of today's modern fashions in their respective schools.

Taking her place as runner-up for Homecoming Queen is the Princess of Light. Accompanied by the school's Dean of Girls, the princess attends a luncheon sponsored by the Downtown Merchants Association where a wheel-of-chance is spun to select a queen for the annual Christmas parade.

Pressing senior activities never slow down our ambitious Continentals. Many students find time in their busy schedules to attend special trade classes offered at various Indianapolis high schools.

POSTURE AND POISE...Beverly Coryell, Block's fashion board representative poses in popular A-line dress, while Peggy Green displays her Ayres' fashion board uniform.

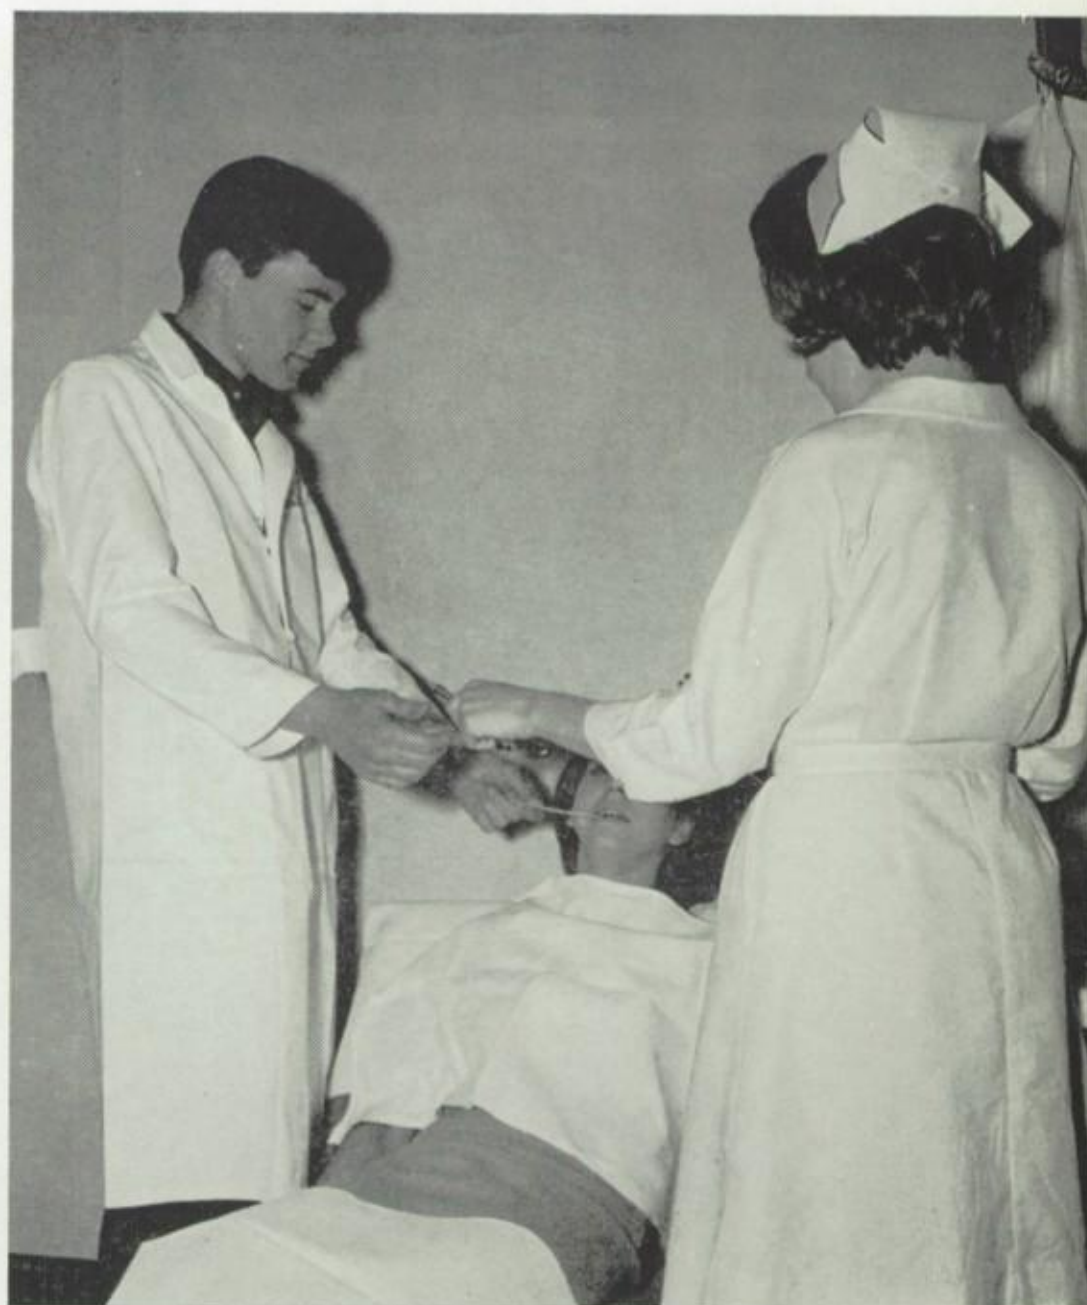

THE LATEST! Continentals stay in step with the latest teen fads and fashions. Here the girls display the "most" in footwear.

ROYAL PRINCESS... Donna Burkert represented Washington High School in the annual Christmas Parade as Princess of Light.

IT WON'T HURT... Donald McCollum aids Gina Hoover as she practices on patient, Nancy McElfresh. Gina attended Wood High School for a course in Dental Technology.

PROM ROYALTY! Candidates hopeful for King and Queen are Row 1: Jim Sims, Sharon Folger, Rick Thompson, Marsha Russell, Ken Opel, and Pat Davenport; Row 2: Winston Fowler, Sue Spears, Patty Medley and Ron Davidson.

Junior class of '67 spends active year . . .

In their last year as underclassmen Juniors display their conscientious work in academics as well as social activities. Top scholastic students were initiated into the National Honor Society during the fall and spring semesters and will compose next year's organization.

Caught in the excitement of class elections, Juniors campaigned vigorously for the party of their choice. After officers were elected, a Junior Executive Committee was appointed to conduct the class business in coordination with their sponsor, Mrs. Virginia Kassler.

The Class of '67 also played host to the Christmas dance where they highlighted the evening with the crowning of Jack Frost and Christmas Carol. The Junior Class also sponsored the annual Junior Revue. This year's production of "South Pacific" proved to be a tremendous success.

Climaxing the year, Juniors looked forward to the Junior Prom with anticipation. Nominating and selecting the candidates for king and queen also added glamour and royalty to the Prom. This year's dance was at the popular Dolphin Club.

CLASS EXECS....Planning the next class meeting keeps the Junior Class officers busy every minute. They are Winston Fowler, president; Jim Sims, sergeant at arms; Portia Lanham, treasurer; Ron Davidson, vice president; Virginia Cary, secretary; and Rick Thompson, sergeant at arms.

INDECISION... Sophomores Judy Spear and Chuck Shaw gaze longingly at several class rings available in the Bookstore. Trying to decide which ring to buy is one of the toughest decisions of the year for some sophomores.

Sophomores find second year active . . .

No longer confused "Frosh," sophomores get in step with the Continental Way. After a second year of eventful activities and hard work, eager students look forward to ordering class rings at the end of the spring semester. For several years Herff Jones Company has supplied Washington with beautifully designed class rings. Orders are accompanied by a deposit and rings are delivered at the beginning of the fall semester.

Sophomores have notably helped to maintain the traditional athletic and academic achievements of our school. Their spirit and loyalty is a welcomed asset to Washington High School.

PRIZE WINNER... Holding a trophy symbolic of the athletic excellence of Washington High School is sophomore cross country runner David Harris. Sophomore interest in athletics was high this year as usual.

NOW HEAR THIS! Mr. Joseph Greene, freshman counsellor, explains some of the traditions of Continental Land to one of his freshman orientation classes.

Frosh get first glimpse of high school life . . .

UP THE DOWN STAIRCASE... Acting as typical freshmen, Julie Dickman and Paul Harding walk up the down staircase.

"Inside Washington," Freshmen get an on-the-scene-picture of active high school life. Perhaps a little frustrated and confused at first, freshmen are given a warm welcome and are oftentimes helped by upperclassmen to "get in the groove of things."

Of course those enevitable embarrassing incidents occasionally pop up, but Frosh soon learn that dropping lunch trays, being late to class, and going up the wrong stairway, happens to everyone, even teachers and upperclassmen.

As the year progresses, Freshmen become aware that hard work and study pay the best rewards, and they are on their way to being the "Senior Class of 1966."

The halls "inside Washington" are swelled . . .

Rubbish! Freshmen Pam Shepherd and Carla Day proudly display the cherished "trophy" awarded to the class for winning the Student Council-sponsored "Clean-Up" contest. The freshmen collected more trash from the halls and rooms of Washington High School than any other class.

MAY I HELP YOU? This is a question often asked by these members of DE who are Row 1: Sharon Harvey, Mary Miller, Eva Clark, Erma Rowland, Phyliss Petty, Roberta Hoff, and Helen Richardson; Row 2: David Dotts, Richard Dean, Allen Ferguson, Mike Chappell, Dave Roberts, Dennis Golay, and Robert Nessel.

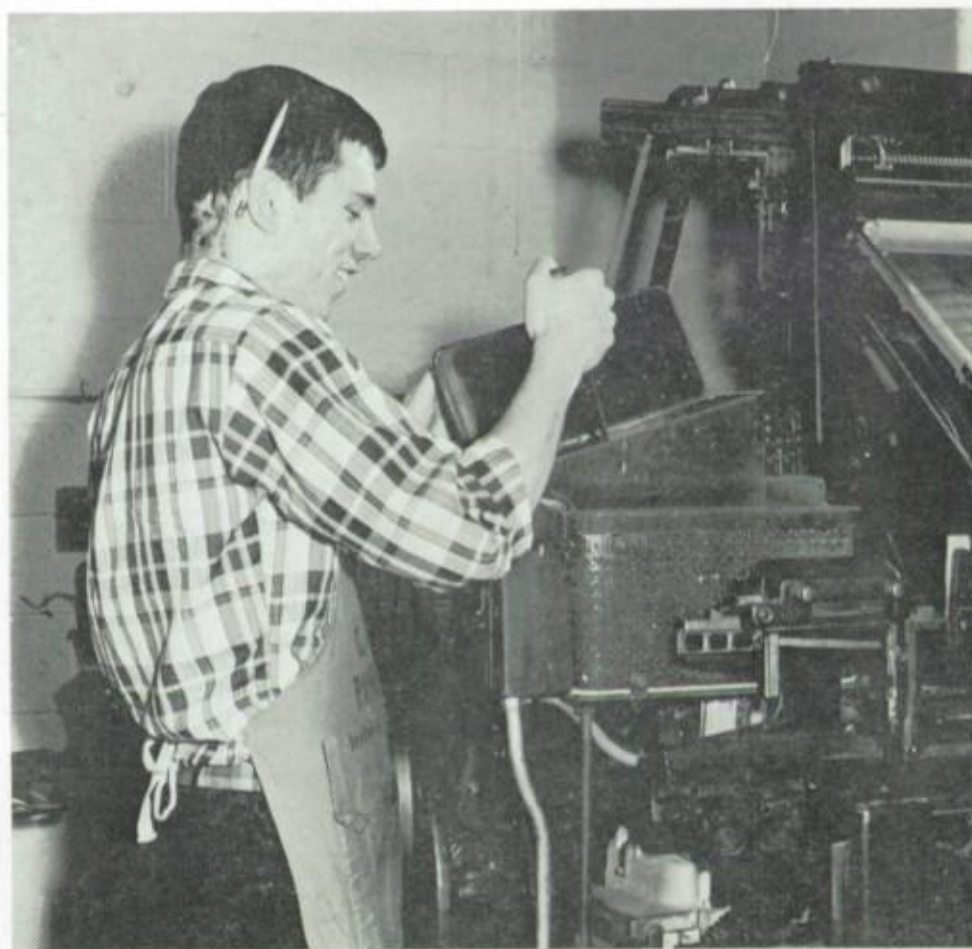

STATE DCE CHAMPS...The officers of DCE are Steve Kuszmaul, Don Lawson, Sharon Farkus, and Pam Schumacher.

Many students work behind the scenes;

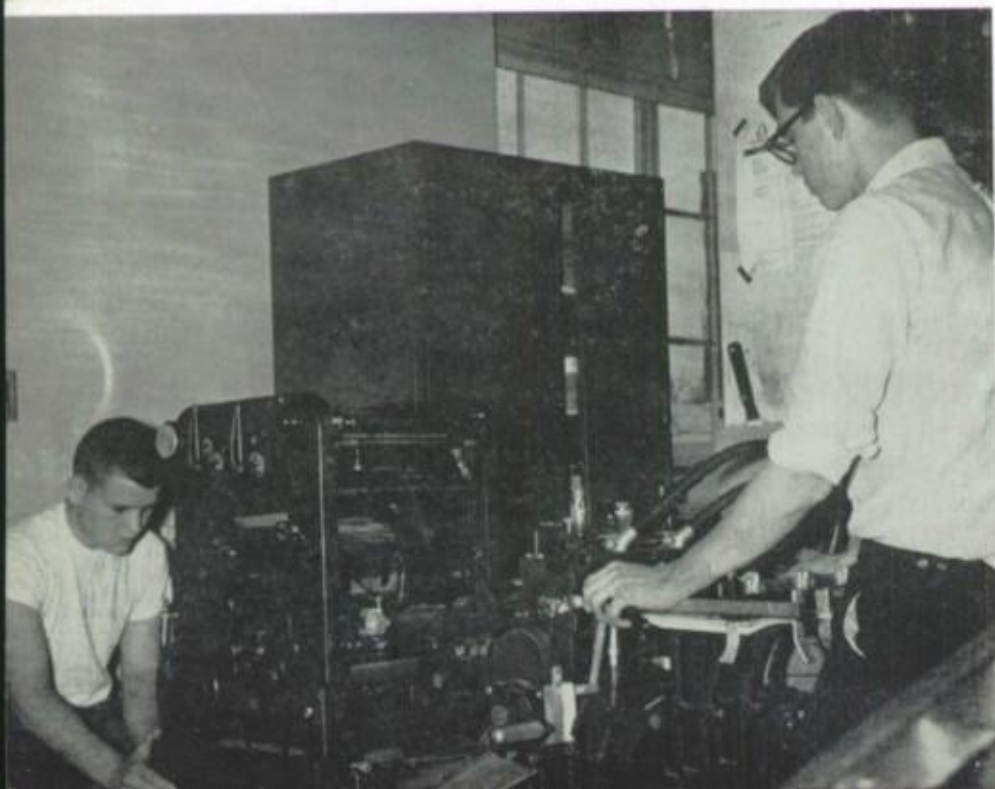

The Distributive Education program sponsored by Mr. John Bridges is for students interested in selling, advertising, merchandising, window display work, or any other job which requires some customer contact in the distribution of goods or services. This is a full year course offered only to seniors.

Juniors or seniors are eligible to enter the Diversified Cooperative Education program. Students enrolled in this class work in the production of goods. The Washington club won the State D.C.E. championship, and Sherrie Tipton won the individual trophy. Mr. John Edwards sponsors this group.

Many times forgotten and left out when credit is extended are the printers and pressmen. These hard working students make it possible for Washington High School to be one of the few high schools in Indiana to print its own yearbook.

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN...Mike Garr cleans the metal pot of the linotype machine. This is one of the least desirable jobs of a printer.

HOT OFF THE PRESS! John Short and Thomas Yates run the offset press.

SNOOPY SAYS...Mr. David Knott has had a rewarding year in his first two semesters as GWHS Journalism Adviser.

WHAT'S NEXT? Steve McCullough consults POST staff member Freda Blevins for the next picture to be taken.

aid staff in publishing best POST ever!

ASSEMBLY LINE...Looking over the yearbook dummy are POST Staff members Pam Schumacher, Teresa Lewis, Sue Leach, Nancy Parks, Lilia Georgiev, and Freda Blevins.

V.I.P.'S! Editor Peggy Green and the Advisory Board members Cheryl Logue, Donna Burkert, and Nancy McElfresh select a cover for the 1966 POST.

And the doors "inside Washington" close

This is "not the end, not the beginning of the end, but it is perhaps, the end of the beginning."

We find that this quotation from Winston Churchill best summarizes this book and this year. To some of us, this year will be the end of our formal schooling and the beginning of our careers, while many will continue their formal education. To all of us, this book will serve as a reminder of all the wonderful times we have had "inside Washington."

This book would be incomplete without expressing our thanks to Mr. William Tobias and his assistants, Steve McCullough and Dann Hines, for activity and senior pictures. Thanks also go to the Indiana High School Picture Co. for the underclassmen pictures, the S. K. Smith Co. for the cover, the Ropkey Engraving Co. for the engravings, and the Newspaper Boys of America, Inc., for the binding.

We hope that this book helps you to relive your wonderful days "inside Washington" for many years.
